Strong Opposition To New French Premier

PARIS (UP)—Premier-designate Jules Moch ran into strong opposition today in his bid to win National Assembly confirmation of his nomination.

Scheduled to go before the Assembly this afternoon to ask for the confidence vote, the 56-year-old Communist-buster found both Communists and rightists openly hostile to his designation by President Vincent Auriol.

Indications were that the hard-boiled, former minister of the interior could hope for only a narrow margin over the 311 votes required for confidence in any government he might head.

There are 620 votes in the Assembly.

The Communists, who have described Moch as an assassin and murderer, ordered their members to stop work temporarily as a protest against his designation when Moch goes before the Assembly.

The Communists have hated Moch since he sent security forces into the northern coal fields in 1947 and 1948 to cripple Communist strikes.

Former Premier Paul Reynaud probably will head the right-wing attacks against Moch's wage-price program on which he hoped to gain an Assembly okay.

It was the wage-price issue which toppled the middle-of-the-road government of Premier Henri Queuille on the heels of British devaluation of the pound.

Atom Control Pact Among Stalemates Faced By U.N.

LAKE SUCCESS (UP)—Experts from the Big Six atomic countries met for the 10th time today with gloom dampening hopes for an agreement on control of the atomic bomb.

There were these other stalemates in the United Nations:

1. Yugoslavia's rift with Russia, an issue heightened by published reports—denied at U.N. headquarters—that Secretary General Trygve Lie had told Secretary of State Dean Acheson that Yugoslavia's election to the Security Council in opposition to Kremlin-backed Czechoslovakia might lead to the Soviet withdrawal from the world organization.

2. The Greek dispute, on which there were indications that little, if any, progress was being made by top U.N. officials in their efforts to gain Russian consent to a peaceful settlement among the Athens government, its northern neighbors and the Greek guerrillas.

PROBLEM OF CHINA

3. The Chinese issue, dropping steadily further into the background of U.N. discussions, on which there were hints, which could gain no official confirmation, that the Nationalist government's dispute with Russia might be shelved for this assembly session.

Police Investigate Fate Of Crew Aboard Blazing Fishboat

B.C. Police at Campbell River today were investigating the fate of the crew of a 30-foot green-hulled fishing vessel spotted ablaze Wednesday afternoon in the waters of Sutil Channel, 30 miles northeast of Campbell River on Vancouver Island.

The flaming craft was sighted by Capt. W. Peters, piloting a Queen Charlotte Airlines plane. Capt. Peters landed near the scene and found another fishing vessel, the Dido, skippered by H. Peterson, standing by.

Neither the plane nor the Dido were able to get near the unidentified craft because of the intense heat of the gasoline-fed flames.

No sign of a crew was seen and investigators of the blaze were not able to tell whether or not those aboard had escaped the flames.

An air search of the area by Capt. Peters failed to show any trace of survivors.

Ottawa Turns Down Idea Of Aid With Alaskan Rail Link

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has considered and rejected the idea of helping provide a rail link between British Columbia and Alaska, informed quarters said today.

The idea came up for speculation because of the arrival here of British Columbia's Premier Johnson. He came here from Washington, where he had gone at the invitation of Senator Warren Magnuson of Seattle, champion of the proposal.

The Premier breakfasted with Fisheries Minister Mayhew today and was looking forward to a meeting with B.C. Members of Parliament. He will leave tomorrow for Victoria.

Sources close to him said his visit to Washington has not changed his view that the rail proposal is a federal responsibility as far as Canada is concerned.

A federal official said the government already has considered the proposal to spread a network of lines through northern B.C., Yukon and Alaska territory. One of its major advantages would be a vital transportation link in any defence of the continent.

The government's feeling, however, was that the cost would not be justified.

CAN DO MORE

"The government doesn't feel," the official said, "that the existing road, rail and water facilities are being utilized to their utmost."

Senator Magnuson, a Democrat from Washington State, has placed legislation before Congress that would authorize President Truman to open negotiations with the Canadian government for a survey of the 1,400-mile road from Prince George, B.C., to Alaska. The bill has been approved by the House of Representatives but awaits Senate approval.

The P.G.E. now runs 347 miles from Squamish, 40 miles north of Vancouver, to Quesnel, 80 miles south of Prince George.

Order Closes Sport Fishing In Alberni Canal

Special to The Times

PORT ALBERNI—A surprise order closing down sport fishing in the Alberni canal has been promulgated by the fisheries department to take effect at 8 Saturday night.

Well-informed circles state a shortage of coho on the spawning grounds had been responsible for the order. Closure follows one week after the annual tyee derby and marks the first time this area has been closed to sport fishermen. A minor loss of tourist business is anticipated. A large run of springs is presently at the top end of the canal.

Taking the step in the interests of conservation was J. S. R. Tate, regional supervisor, Nanaimo, who had the approval of R. J. Whitmore, chief supervisor.

Coal Agreement

GLACE BAY, N.S. (BUP)

—Nova Scotia coal miners, 10,000 strong, were satisfied today with 50-cent daily wage increases they approved in a union referendum.

The miners, members of District 28 of the United Mine Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) and employees of the Dominion Steel and Coal Company, voted to accept the wage boost retroactive to Feb. 1, 1949. Each man would get about $80 in back pay.

The vote raised the daily basic rate to $8.14.

Ends Arctic Trip

HALIFAX (CP)—The Hudson's Bay Company vessel Rupertsland, arrived in Halifax Wednesday, completing a three-month supply voyage to the Arctic.

Thomas Crawford, manager of the Hudson's Bay Company post at Payne Bay, is returning to Winnipeg.

U.S. Steel Strike Forces Firms In Canada To Cut Down Output

OTTAWA (CP)—Steel belt-tightening in some parts of Canada became evident today as the United States steel strike swept to the two-week mark.

Reports reaching government quarters show that one major iron and steel producer in Ontario already has been hit.

In the face of dwindling supplies of American steel products, the company has been forced to curtail output in piping and tubing used by the plumbing industry. Workers have been released temporarily.

A shortage of enamelling steel, particularly on the west coast, is holding back full production of steel bathtubs, refrigerators and electric stoves.

U.S. Bomber Crashes In Britain; 12 Killed

ISLEHAM, Cambridgeshire, Eng. (AP)—A United States Air Force B-50 bomber with a load of live bombs dived into a wheat field today and exploded with a roar heard 12 miles away. All 12 crew members were killed.

The plane, designed as the atom-bomb carrying version of the B-29, was on a 180-mile practice mission to the North Sea Island of Heligoland with 12 500-pound bombs.

Villagers said the plane appeared to burst into flames just before it dropped through a light ground fog and struck the field. Flaming bits of the four-engined craft were blown hundreds of yards in all directions from the huge central crater dug by the blast.

Burning gasoline set fire to a ring of farm buildings and to 60 tons of stacked wheat. Windows shattered and plaster ceilings fell in Isleham houses. Fire equipment was summoned from nearby Newmarket, 60 miles northeast of London, and from Cambridge, Mildenhall and Oxfordham.

A Royal Air Force rescue squadron recovered the 12 bodies from the smoking, twisted wreckage within two hours after the crash.

The plane, one of the newest types in the U.S. Air Force, is designed to carry conventional bombs as well as the atom bombs. The R.A.F. threw a guard around the wreckage to protect secret equipment.

Witnesses said the plane burst into flames just before diving into the field. In London, U.S. Air Force headquarters said the big bomber might have been carrying live high explosive bombs on a practice mission.

There was no immediate indication of the cause of the crash. Air Force headquarters said weather in the area was foggy, with visibility of about an eighth of a mile.

Premier Speaks To Quiet 'Disturbing Effects On Trade'

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee today turned down demands for a general election this fall and decided the Labor government would ride out Britain's economic crisis.

The announcement that there would be no early election was made, an official statement said, to quiet "disturbing effects on trade and industry" caused by widespread speculation of a vote this fall.

The Labor government's five-year term runs until next July. But the Prime Minister can call a general election at any time by petitioning the King to dissolve Parliament. Mr. Attlee said he would not do so this year.

The Prime Minister's announcement set a precedent. It is the first time a Prime Minister has used an official statement to say "no" to an election.

Ever since Sept. 18, when Britain devalued the pound from $4.03 to $2.80 in United States funds, there has been a rash of predictions that Attlee might seek an early vote of confidence from the people.

INCREASE IN PRICES

Left-wing Labor members had urged a vote soon, claiming rising prices caused by devaluation might cut into the government's popularity within a few months.

Devaluation also was followed by rising pressure from the Opposition Conservative Party and some sections of the press and business for a general election. Generally, those groups contended the government should place its Socialist politics and planning and finance before the electorate this autumn.

Today's cabinet meeting was the first session of top government ministers since the pound was devalued.

Before the full meeting political writers reported the cabinet was split on calling an autumn general election.

The Prime Minister's announcement came at a moment when the Conservative party was holding its "biggest in history" annual conference in an atmosphere of "election fever."

GO AHEAD

The decision means the government will go ahead in the next few months with the rigorous new austerity era made necessary by the devaluation of the pound.

It also means that the government will carry to the statute book the bill for the nationalization of iron and steel, and the Parliament Act, which will cut the House of Lords powers to delay legislation from two years to one.

Gas To Cost More

ROME (BUP)—Italians, faced with gasoline prices of 90 cents a gallon—more than the price of wine—today cheered a government announcement that production of motorcoasters this year was expected to double last year's output.

Far cheaper than the cheapest car, and easier to ride than a motorcycle, the scooters infiltrated every level of Italian life.

Last year, 41,000 of the ear-splitting putt-putts were turned out here. Nearly 5,000 of them were exported, nearly half to Argentina. Others were sent to Australia, India, China and Canada. They sold here at 150,000 to 180,000 lire—about $250 to $300.

Nehru Says India Works With U.S. For Peace, Justice

WASHINGTON (UP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India promised today that his country would work with the United States to achieve "justice, liberty and peace" throughout the world.

In identical speeches prepared for the House and Senate, Nehru said India would never remain neutral "where freedom is menaced or justice threatened or aggression takes place."

Chiang Forces Abandon Canton, Report Claims

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

HONGKONG (AP)—Telephoned reports from Canton said Nationalist forces tonight abandoned the South China city. Plans for all organized resistance ended within the provisional capital. Entry of Communist troops now is awaited.

Earlier information from Canton said troops had pulled out of Canton, but this was coupled with reports the Nationalists had been ordered north to defend the city.

New Zealand Presbyterian Missionaries told an Associated Press correspondent in Canton they had heard heavy gunfire around Kongsuen, 10 miles distant.

But there was nothing as yet to indicate whether the Nationalists were quitting the city under military pressure or whether they were attempting to reach escape corridors ahead of the swift-moving Red troops.

MILLION LOOK ON

A million Cantonese waited, tensely, nervously, for the transition period.

Communist troops last were reported driving directly down the Canton-Hankow railroad to within 30 miles of Canton. There was no telling whether the gunfire at Kongsuen was Red or Nationalist artillery or both.

As yet, Hongkong had heard no reports of Nationalist resistance. Instead, 80,000 government troops in the Canton region faced isolation by encircling Reds and by insufficient shipping to escape to the sea.

The Nationalist government fled to Chungking. Acting President Li Tsung-jen left by plane for Kweilin in neighboring Kiangsi province where an army of some 250,000 has been salvaged out of recent setbacks.

Manager Believes Noronic Tragedy 'Not Unavoidable'

TORONTO (CP)—Capt. Norman J. Reoch, general manager of Canadian Steamship Lines Ltd. testified at the Noronic fire inquiry today he believed the disaster which struck the cruise steamship here Sept. 17 was "not unavoidable."

He added he was not sure yet what could have been done to prevent it.

Both commission counsel J. W. Pickup and Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, inquiry commissioner, took issue with the witness' several times for not answering questions put to him.

"If you are going to make speeches instead of answering my questions, we are not going to get any place," Mr. Pickup told Capt. Reoch.

"Ask me questions in nautical language so I can understand them. I am not a corporation lawyer," said Capt. Reoch.

Asked if he considered the night watch sufficient for the Noronic when she docked here Sept. 16, Capt. Reoch said, "Yes. That's standard practice."

Bus Fares Cut!

With bus fares a current topic of discussion in Victoria, a reader today presented a newspaper clipping relating how one company had reduced fares and made a bigger profit when all other companies were boosting their rates.

According to the account, the company decreased fares on the theory "Give the customers better value for their money and they'll appreciate it." It set its dearest trip—five to seven miles—at 4 cents.

After one year at the new rate, the company reports a profit of $58,608 ($179,926).

"Not bad for 70 buses," the transport manager is quoted as saying.

It happened in Middlesbrough, England.

Canton Handed To Reds

Quadruplet Girls In Ontario Given Chance For Life

SAULT STE. MARIE (BUP)—Quadruplet girls born prematurely to Mrs. C. O. Hargraves today were given an excellent chance of survival by the attending doctor.

Dr. John McDonald said that although he expected a multiple birth and had warned Mrs. Hargraves, he was surprised at the birth of quadruplets. The mother was doing well, he said.

McDonald said the first child was delivered at 7:55 a.m. and the fourth 17 minutes later. The babies' weights ranged from three pounds seven ounces to three pounds three ounces.

Hargraves said he was more than just surprised. He was wondering where he would find sufficient baby clothes for his latest additions to the family.

Mrs. Hargraves, he said, had gathered together enough clothes for two babies after being warned by Dr. McDonald to expect a multiple birth, but she never expected four in her wild west dreams. The Hargraves have two other children.

Asked how he broke the news to the father, Dr. McDonald said: "See here, Mr. Hargraves."

City Airman Hurt In Collision Dies

Word was received here today of the death in Edmonton Wednesday afternoon of Leading Aircraftman G. W. Carter, son of Mrs. A. Carter, 749 Jasmine Avenue.

L.A.C. Carter was injured in a head-on car collision near Calgary Sept. 24 and never fully regained consciousness. He was moved from Col. Belcher Hospital in Calgary to an Edmonton hospital early this month for treatment by a specialist.

The mother of the airman was in Edmonton at the time of her son's death.

Witchcraft Given As Reason State Dismissed Woman

ELDRIDGE, Calif. (AP)—A woman employee dismissed for "witchcraft" got a hearing today at the Sonoma state home for the feeble minded.

She is Mrs. Leona Blackwell, dismissed Sept. 8 and accused of: 1. Scaring patients by grabbing them in the dark.

2. Threatening to put a "curse" on patients and employees.

3. Terrifying patients by the "practice of witchcraft."

The state personnel board is hearing her appeal. Through her attorney, Charles C. Greenfield of Sonoma, she indignantly denied the charges. Greenfield added:

"She doesn't know any more about witchcraft than I do. She is an intelligent woman."

But Dr. Marshall E. Porter, superintendent of the home, declares concerning the witchcraft charge:

"I know it sounds screwy, but it is true.

"She was scaring the patients and some of the employees half to death," Porter said.

Nehru Pledges India To Work With U.S. For Peace, Justice

WASHINGTON (UP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India promised today that his country would work with the United States to achieve "justice, liberty and peace" throughout the world.

In identical speeches prepared for the House and Senate, Nehru said India would never remain neutral "where freedom is menaced or justice threatened or aggression takes place."

The Indian leader said his nation practices the same "binding faith in peace" that American officials are working for.

"Friendship and co-operation between our two countries are, therefore, natural," Nehru said. "I stand here to offer both in the pursuit of justice, liberty and peace."

What the world needs more than anything else, he said, is "understanding and appreciation of each other among nations and peoples."

Wasn't Totally Naked, He At Least Wore Boots

Two women enjoying a walk along the Dallas Road waterfront Wednesday evening got rather a rude shock when they encountered a naked man who calmly sauntered past them and disappeared into Ross Bay Cemetery—naked, that is, except for a pair of boots.

City policemen searched the district with no success.

It happened about 8:55. A young man, age estimated at about 20 years, came up from the waterfront, wearing his boots but with his clothing carried over an arm.

"He crossed not more than five feet in front of us, did not speak and walked up the path into the cemetery," the women told the police.

B.C. Alaska Rail Link Bill Waits U.S. Senate Move

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—A bill aimed at the eventual building of a 1,400-mile railroad link between British Columbia and Alaska is awaiting Senate attention.

The measure, sponsored by Senator W. O. Magnuson (D.-Wash.) asks President Truman to open negotiations with Canada for a study of the project as a move to bolster Alaskan defence.

Already approved by the House of Representatives, it was called in the Senate Wednesday, but was withdrawn temporarily when Senator Dennis Chavez (D.-N.M.) said he was unfamiliar with the bill and wanted time to study it. He had no specific objection.

Though the Senate is driving for adjournment, Congressional sources said they were confident the legislation would come up again for action, possibly within the next day or so, with good opportunity of being approved.

They noted that Chavez's objection was based merely on the fact he knew nothing about the bill and did not want to vote on it without study. It won easy passage in the lower chamber and no opposition has been expressed in the Senate.

Sponsors of the proposal say adequate transportation in Alaska and between Alaska and the United States is essential to the defence of the northern territory and to development of its natural resources. Existing transportation is inadequate.

Under the bill, Truman would be asked to:

1. Determine Canada's feeling toward extending rail facilities from Prince George to the Canadian-Alaskan border.
2. Have surveys and estimates made covering construction of a rail line from Fairbanks south to the British Columbia border.

The bill also calls for Canadian-American discussion of "reciprocal tariff and immigration arrangements" in connection with the project.

No Change In B.C. Policy

OTTAWA (BUP)—Premier Byron Johnson of British Columbia, said today there was no change in his government's policies foreseen as a result of his trip to Washington to discuss the building of a rail link between northern B.C. and Alaska.

"I went to Washington at the invitation of Sen. Warren Magnuson (D.-Wash.), to discuss the proposed rail link," he said. "There is no change as far as British Columbia is concerned, and there are no developments to report as a result of my visit."

Federal government policy in connection with the rail link, which would extend the Pacific

Great Eastern Railway into Alaska, was settled two months ago when Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent announced that a subsidy would be paid to extend the railway to Prince George, B.C., Mr. Johnson said.

Premier Johnson said he was not having discussions with government officials here on the proposed link. Government officials themselves said the extension into Alaska would be a matter for discussion between the federal government and the United States. Defence aspects of the proposal was strictly a matter of federal government concern, it was stated.

U.S. Would Be Less Ready For War Than Soviet—Nimitz

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz advised Congress today that the United States' battle plans must assume "we will be less ready for war at its outbreak" than Russia.

Nimitz did not mention Russia by name in a statement sent to the House armed services committee, but there was no mistaking what nation he had in mind in speaking of "our probable opponent" in event of war.

He questioned the effectiveness of the atom bomb and urged that it "not be considered as our main weapon of offence."

Just before Nimitz's statement was ready, Admiral R. A. Spruance, retired head of the Naval War College, had frankly spoken of Russia and warned that a war with the Soviets could not be won quickly, easily or by the A-bomb alone.

Spruance questioned in fact whether the United States would want to drop atomic or conventional bombs in mass fashion. For if war did come, Spruance said, the aim of the United States would be to free the peoples of enemy countries from Communist dictatorships.

Mass bombing, he went on, would destroy thousands of the very people the United States was fighting to free.

The views of the two admirals were received as the navy was winding up its case against present military policy that places heavy emphasis on the Air Force high-flying bomber, the B-36, designed to deliver the A-bomb.

Hope Dims

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Hope for an Indian fisherman missing aboard his gillnetter "Rovina" in northern British Columbia waters dimmed today.

Royal Canadian Air Force search and rescue squadron officials said not a clue was found in the air and sea hunt for George Paul, Mitikatl Indian. His boat broke down in a 60-mile-an-hour gale in Hecate Strait near Bonilla Island Monday.

Daily Mirror Critic Dislikes 'Streetcar'

LONDON (CP)—Tennessee Williams' play, "A Streetcar Named Desire," which had its London premiere Wednesday night, was strongly attacked today by the Daily Mirror in a front-page article.

The Mirror's critic, Jean Deane Potter, described the play as "another long-winded installment of the American stage preoccupation with squalid sex."

Other London newspapers termed the sombre drama of a neurotic woman in a New Orleans slum district a smash hit that will run as long as Vivien Leigh continues to play the leading role.

Vancouver's Bernard Braden got two honorable mentions from the critics for his acting in "A Streetcar." The Daily Telegraph said he was "good" as Mitch, the last suitor of Blanche Dubois, the principal character. The Star termed his performance "excellent."

Modern-Day Spies 'Pikers' As Japanese Art Recalled

By EARNST HOBRECHT
TOKYO (UP)—Japanese spies once learned the art of making themselves invisible, but they have not used this secret weapon for 100 years or more. And when they did use it, they used it on themselves.

During the feudal days of Japan, when rivalry and suspicion among military leaders was high, the Japanese developed the art of spying to its finest degree. Local warlords always had spies in the territories of their enemies. Intrigue was thick in those days. And because captured spies often got their ears sent home on cushions, the better boys in the racket developed the art of ninjutsu.

Ninjutsu is the art of invisibility. Japanese legends and popular tales are full of the supposed extraordinary accomplishments of these spies, but people today admit the claims for these magicians may be a little exaggerated. Still, it's a fact that ninjutsu experts really existed. They mastered their art only after long years of hard and difficult training. Sanzo Kimura, one of downtown Tokyo's best barbers, knows all about "lost art" because he's "one of the best ninjutsu operators that ever lived in all of Japan."

Anyway, that's what Sanzo says, and here's what he says his ancient relative did:

"When my honorable ancestor was still a boy, he first learned to walk and run fast—faster than ordinary persons. He trained himself to go without eating and sleeping for many days."

"Then my wise and honorable ancestor learned to walk softly and noiselessly anywhere, to climb up perpendicular walls, jump over high fences, open and shut doors without making any noise, see things in semi-darkness and to have a specially keen sense of hearing."

SKULKED IN BLACK

"When my kind, wise and honorable ancestor went on a mission for his master, he dressed himself in a tight black outfit which covered his whole head and face, except for small holes for the eyes. He selected a moonless night and scaled the outer wall of the place he intended to enter. Opening a convenient door noiselessly, he entered the house. If he met anyone in the corridor, he flattened himself against the wall or jumped up and held his body in mid-air above the person by grabbing the side-pole."

"He went wherever he pleased and listened to the talks of the household of his master's adversary. And when he had the information he wanted, he silently returned to report his findings."

So far as occupation personnel know, the art of the invisible spies is not being practiced today.

Even Sanzo believes not. The modern electric light, he admitted, probably would have thrown even his great-great-grandfather for a look.

FLAMING FALL

AFTER SPENDING THE NIGHT in Toronto, we again boarded a plane next morning for the final stages of our journey to Halifax. And as we rose and circled over the Ontario city, I noticed again the gay roofs of the Wartime Housing developments.

Some people may look down upon these particular housing units, but when you really look down on them—in the physical sense, as I did—you appreciate the contribution they have made to the color of Canada as well as to the comfort of many Canadians.

Their bright blues, greens and reds marched with us at intervals all across the continent in gay, regular formation. And on the prairies, particularly in Saskatchewan, these vivid roof-tops were a welcome color relief in the monotony of the somewhat drab landscape and the equally drab effect of unpainted, weather-beaten farmhouses and outbuildings.

LUSH FARMLANDS

BEYOND TORONTO, THE LOVELY lush farmlands of rural Ontario were interspersed with small communities, tucked into the crossroads where the ribbons of highways converged after winding their way through fields which are smaller and more intimate than the great wheat sections of the prairies.

It was here that we first experienced the beauty of the East's flaming fall, the scarlet tones of the hard maples, the crimson of the sumacs, and the deeper green of other trees combining to give the effect of looking down on a vast, partially-completed hooked rug.

The lakes became fewer, too, and as we passed over one huge sheet of water I caught sight of the shadows of our plane keeping up with us in the limpid water far below.

RURAL QUEBEC

IT IS EASY TO KNOW when you come to rural Quebec. For the farms follow a different pattern. The farmhouses are invariably built up close to the roadside, the small holdings stretching back in long, narrow fields, divided by hedges, so that it suggests a checkerboard made up of elongated sections.

And you see more stone houses which, from the air, look uniformly drab, while little churches thrust their spires toward heaven with far more frequency than elsewhere.

Speaking of church spires reminds me, too, of the glimpses I caught of the imposing shrine of St. Joseph's, atop Mount Royal, as we circled over Montreal on a gloriously clear, sunny day, before heading farther east.

OVER THE BORDER

WE SEEMED SCARCELY to have left Montreal before we were over New Brunswick, with its mass of vivid fall colors dotting the landscape as far as the eye could see.

For some time we followed the Appalachians, the deep shadows and the serried tops of the more distant peaks being the only indication of their mountainous character. But the autumn dress of the trees which climbed their sides was breath-taking in its beauty.

Suddenly we discovered that we were over Maine, U.S.A. But although I had my eye glued to the window I could see no sign of any border—not even a line of American flags—to mark the transition. In fact the scenery was so much like that of the adjacent Canadian terrain that had it not been for our stewardess, we would not have known we were over American territory.

Only once did we see any sign of life and movement in that American state. That was when we skirted Millinockett, a small mill town on a lake, and noticed a train far, far below, smoking its way across the peninsula.

LAKES AND ORCHARDS

AFTER PASSING BLISSVILLE, N.B., at an altitude of 7,000 feet, I noticed a change in the scenery. There was more water, more farms hugging the lake shores, with orchards dotted about.

The farms lost the slender symmetry of Quebec and followed irregular patterns and strange contours. The trees along the roads threw long shadows like uneven picket fences, but everywhere was visible the color of flaming fall.

And as we left Moncton and got nearer to our destination, the little hills and dales reminded me of the English downs, dotted with cosy farms and criss-crossed with roads that meandered around the hills in a line that was far from straight.

Ship Supplies, Equipment For Arctic Scientific Expedition

OTTAWA (CP)—When an expedition of the Arctic Institute of North America arrives next year at the Clyde River on the eastern coast of Baffin Island, inside the Arctic Circle, it will find 18 tons of supplies and equipment, including 1,000 feet of two-inch aluminum tubing.

These supplies are moving now to this northern outpost aboard the motor vessel "Newfoundland" from Montreal. The tubing is for sinking a hole in the ice cap. It will be left in the ice to observe physical changes in the glacier's structure and to record its travel.

Lt.-Col. P. D. Baird of the Institute's Montreal office will lead the scientific party. He arranged to obtain the essential supplies and received assistance from 11 Canadian companies who contributed with cash and materials.

The party of 18 will make an extensive survey of the vast glacier. To help get the aluminum tubing through the ice they will use a 110-volt, 2,000-watt gasoline generator to provide hot point melting as the holes are being drilled.

The "Newfoundland," chartered by the federal government, is making the usual summer run to weather stations and other posts in the Arctic.

VARIETY OF SUPPLIES

She carries 12 tons of gasoline for outboard engines and generators, including enough for 100 hours of flying by a Norseman aircraft to be used by the expedition, and six tons of food to last the party 19 weeks, plus tents, cooking equipment, tools and hardware.

The party also will have two 17-foot canoes and motor boats for operating in fjords, and 300 pounds of high-velocity gelatin charges to set off explosions for seismic measurements of the depth of the ice.

Baird commanded the Canadian Army force on exercise "Musk-Ox."

Among those who may be joining the party are Dr. Pierre

Brief Proposes Civic Theatre Chain

The B.C. Drama Association and the Victoria School of Theatrical Arts have prepared briefs for submission to the Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences, which is to sit in Victoria on Oct. 28.

The brief of the B.C. Drama Association, prepared by H. S. Hurn, association secretary, deals chiefly with the need for greater government assistance in promoting amateur theatricals.

The brief of the School of Theatrical Arts, prepared by Warren Martin, director of the school, asks particularly for the creation of a chain of civic theatres throughout the Dominion.

NOT WATERLOGGED YET

Probably the most enthusiastic swimmer of the 10,000 persons who visited Norway's Ingjarstrand beach each Sunday last summer was 78-year-old Emma Hansich. "I've been swimming for the past 71 years," she notes, "and intend to continue as long as possible."

Atom Control Pact Among Stalemates Faced By U.N.

LAKE SUCCESS (UP) — Experts from the Big Six atomic countries met for the 10th time today with gloom dampening hopes for an agreement on control of the atomic bomb.

There were these other stalemates in the United Nations:

1. Yugoslavia's rift with Russia, an issue heightened by published reports—denied at U.N. headquarters—that Secretary-General Trygve Lie had told Secretary of State Dean Acheson that Yugoslavia's election to the Security Council in opposition to Kremlin-backed Czechoslovakia might lead to the Soviet's withdrawal from the world organization.

2. The Greek dispute, on which there were indications that little, if any, progress was being made by top U.N. officials in their efforts to gain Russian consent to a peaceful settlement among the Athens government, its northern neighbors and the Greek guerrillas.

3. The Chinese issue, dropping steadily further into the background of U.N. discussions, on which there were hints, which could gain no official confirmation, that the Nationalist government's dispute with Russia might be shelved for this assembly session.

Russia appeared to observers to be playing a waiting game in the secret sessions of the atomic experts, anticipating that the western Big Four and Canada would alter their stand on atomic control. This hope withered, however, when Ambassador Warren R. Austin, chief U.S. delegate, derided Russia's demand to include the atomic bomb in a proposed arms census.

Victorian Acquitted Of Manslaughter

CALGARY (CP) — Theodore Murray Bayles of Victoria, B.C., student at the University of British Columbia, was discharged by Chief Justice W. R. Howson in Supreme Court here Wednesday on a charge of manslaughter arising out of the death of Lloyd Hall of Calgary in an auto accident last June 11.

Without calling on the defence counsel for argument, the chief justice said he could find no evidence to warrant finding Bayles guilty of gross negligence. Bayles was the driver of a car which was in collision with another car, resulting in fatal injuries to Hall.

Russia Competing In Canned Salmon Export Markets

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has a new competitor in the canned salmon export field—Russia. The Soviet Union has entered the export market "with considerable quantities," the Fisheries Department said Wednesday in a review of marketing conditions.

The full extent of Russia's competition is not yet known.

Previously, Canada had to contend mainly with the United States in selling canned salmon abroad.

With sterling and dollar devaluation, Canada appeared to have gained an advantage with the Canadian dollar 10 per cent cheaper and sterling currencies about 30 per cent cheaper than the U.S. dollar.

Court Stands Over Appeal Of Former Legion Secretary

Appeal of William H. Haley, former secretary of the Howe Sound branch of the Canadian Legion at Gibson, convicted of theft, was stood over by the Court of Appeal here today to the Vancouver sitting on Nov. 1.

Haley was tried and convicted on a charge of stealing $825 belonging to the Legion branch. Following his conviction he admitted a second charge of fraudulently converting to his own use $816.

Sentence was suspended after Haley entered into a bond to make reparations within three months. He has until Oct. 25 to do so.

K. A. Pincott, counsel for the appellant, requested the case stood over in order to complete an audit of the Legion's books. He said he expected the audit would show the shortage, if any, to be considerably less.

S. J. Remnant, Crown counsel, objected to a delay. He pointed out the accused had already been convicted of theft and had made certain confessions with regard to the shortage of money.

Mr. Pincott said his client had admitted full responsibility for the shortage of money, but did not admit the theft.

Chief Justice Gordon MacG. Sloan said the court agreed to a postponement of the appeal because of the unusual aspects of the case.

Permit Issued For $476,915 Building

Permit for construction of the $476,915 B.C. Power Commission office building on a triangular piece of property bounded by Blanshard, Burdett and McClure streets, has been issued by the city building inspector, and work will be started next week.

It is expected the four story building will be completed within 10 to 12 months. Henry Whittaker, architect of the building describes its design as a "modified classic." He said the building would be along the lines of the new provincial government office building under construction on Government Street east of the Parliament Buildings.

The reinforced concrete building will be "T" shaped, with main entrance on Blanshard Street. It will be two stories on Blanshard, where the rocky site is high, and will be four stories on McClure, where the land falls away.

It will cover 11,650 square feet and properly surrounding it will be landscaped with lawns, flower beds and rockeries.

Used Glass Cutter

It is believed that burglars who were attempting to break into the premises of Rogers' Chocolates, 913 Government Street, recently, were scared off before they completed the job.

Detectives Maurice Wilkinson and Pearson Woodburn this morning reported the thieves had climbed the fire escape to get onto a lean-to roof where they started work with a glass cutter on a window. No entry was gained.

C. S. Smith, manager of the firm, discovered the attempt.

Police Probing Fate Of Crew On Blazing Fishboat

VANCOUVER (CP) — A deep-sea mystery as puzzling as the unsolved disappearance of the crew of the famed "Flying Dutchman" is baffling Provincial Police today.

They are searching for the crew of the 28-foot flame-swept trawler found listing heavily late yesterday in a two-mile channel near Reed Island, off Vancouver Island's east coast.

The trawler was found by fishboat skipper Capt. H. Peterson of nearby Cortez Island. Peterson and his crew of the fishboat Dido managed to subdue the flames sweeping up from the vessel's waterline.

But Peterson found no sign of the ill-fated fishboat's crew. "Stranraer Aircraft Pilot W. Peters of Vancouver joined in the search, flying over deserted beaches and nearby islands, but reported no sign of the crew."

The name of the charred trawler had been burned out on the vessel's bows.

"It might have been an explosion which caught the crew unaware," was the only explanation offered by Peters.

U.S. Steel Strike Forces Firms In Canada To Cut Down Output

OTTAWA (CP) — Steel belt-tightening in some parts of Canada became evident today as the United States steel strike swept to the two-week mark.

Reports reaching government quarters show that one major iron and steel producer in Ontario already has been hit.

In the face of dwindling supplies of American steel products, the company has been forced to curtail output in piping and tubing used by the plumbing industry. Workers have been released temporarily.

A shortage of enamelling steel, particularly on the west coast, is holding back full production of steel bathtubs, refrigerators and electric stoves.

The feeling in government quarters, however, is that the strike in the U.S. will be over before it can cripple the Canadian industrial backbone.

Reports from producers show that many believe they can hold out for another two weeks, at least.

They are the ones which stocked considerable supplies of American steel in the early months of the year and started the government thinking along import-slashing lines.

Altogether, Canada spends about $100,000,000 a year for about 1,000,000 tons of U.S. steel, to augment her domestic production of about 3,000,000 tons.

Trade Expert From Australia Here Friday

Carman Milward Croft, Canada's senior trade commissioner at Sydney, Australia, and commercial councillor at Canberra, will visit Victoria Friday to meet provincial government officials and Vancouver Island manufacturers and exporters interested in promoting trade with Australia.

Arrangements to meet Mr. Croft may be made through the provincial trade and industry department's trade commissioner office, at the Parliament Buildings.

A native of Nova Scotia, Mr. Croft was educated in that province and at Glasgow University and McGill University. He served in France with the 85th Canadian Infantry Battalion during the First World War.

Joining the Canadian foreign trade service in 1922, Mr. Croft was posted to Auckland and eventually assumed full charge of that office. On July 1, 1937, he went to Tokyo as commercial secretary and in November, 1941, he returned to Ottawa to become chief of the shipping priorities committee. In 1943 he became director of the commercial intelligence service of the federal government and in November, 1945, was posted to Australia in his present position.

City firemen Wednesday night put out a fire in an old gravel bunker at the Capital Iron and Metals Limited, Store Street. Firemen quickly brought it under control. There was no material damage.

Ditching Machine Cuts Uplands Power

Electrical service to approximately one-half the homes in the Uplands area was cut at 10:30 this morning when a municipal ditching machine inadvertently cut through the main underground line on Donlevy Street.

B.C. Electric, rushing crews to repair the damage done by the municipal machine, estimated it would take four hours to restore service.

Officials of the power company said approximately one-half the homes in the Uplands are fed from the underground line, while the remaining half get power from overhead lines which were not damaged.

P.G.E. Steel Tenders Studied By Officials

Officials of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway today are studying tenders received Wednesday for the supplying of steel for the extension of the railway from Quesnel to Prince George.

Officials said an attempt is being made to correlate the bids and no announcement of the cost of the work would be made until the return of Premier Byron Johnson from the east. The bids were opened in private Wednesday afternoon.

It is understood that the railway's directors may reject all the bids and attempt to buy steel elsewhere, possibly in England, to take advantage of the devaluation of the pound.

Gas To Cost More

ROME (BUP)—Italians faced with gasoline prices of 90 cents a gallon—more than the price of wine—today cheered a government announcement that production of motorcoasters this year was expected to double last year's output.

Last year, 41,000 of the ear-splitting putt-putts were turned out here. Nearly 5,000 of them were exported, nearly half to Argentina. Others were sent to Australia, India, China and Canada. They sold here at 150,000 to 180,000 lire—about $250 to $300.

Paraguay tea is the dried leaves of the Brazilian holly, an evergreen shrub grown in Paraguay and Brazil.

Obolensky's Bride Excommunicated

NEW YORK (UP)—The chancery office of the New York Roman Catholic Archdiocese announced today the excommunication of Claire Elizabeth McGinnis, who recently married Prince Ivan Obolensky.

The Obolenskys were married Oct. 10 in a much-publicized ceremony in St. Patrick's Cathedral. Following that ceremony they went through a second marriage ceremony at the Russian-Greek Orthodox Cathedral. The chancery said the couple had violated a "solemn promise in having the second ceremony."

Czech Working For U.N. Says Purge Reveals Sabotage

LAKE SUCCESS (UP)—Dr. Jan Papanek, former Czech delegate to the United Nations, said Wednesday the current purge in Czechoslovakia is a "worried government's answer" to widespread but unorganized production slowdowns and sabotage.

Papanek, who broke with the Prague government after the February, 1948, Communist coup and stayed here as a U.N. budgetary expert, said he had direct information from inside Czechoslovakia that the purge started three weeks ago in Moravia.

It was the first in a series of seven lectures. Among problems being studied by astronomers which were outlined by Dr. McKellar were identification of molecules in the atmosphere of certain "N" stars which absorb ultraviolet light, and the relationship of carbon isotopes in some carbon stars.

The astrophysicist reported a new, faster-type spectrograph was now nearing completion at the observatory which may help solve many problems concerning identification of molecules in stars.

Problems which astronomers are seeking to solve relate to the studies being made by theoretical physicists of the formation of chemical elements when the universe came into existence.

A joint meeting of the Community Workers' Club and the C.A.S.W. will hear R. E. G. Davis, executive director of the Canadian Welfare Council speak tomorrow night at 6 at the First United Church banquet hall, Balmoral Road.

Five Niagara's Of Energy Yielded By Alberta's Oil

OTTAWA (CP)—Alberta oil is pouring energy into Canadian life with the compelling force of five Niagaras.

This vivid comparison was given today by John R. White, vice-president of Imperial Oil Ltd., in an address to the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and the Engineering Institute of Canada. He arrived at it this way:

The energy from 18,400 barrels of petroleum is about equal to the energy that is drawn off from Niagara Falls in a day. The Alberta fields will, it is estimated, be capable of producing 100,000 barrels daily by the end of the year. Thus, five Niagaras.

BIGGEST TANKER

Mr. White announced that as part of the program to bring western crude oil to eastern Canada, the largest oil tanker ever to be built in a Canadian shipyard will be constructed.

It will be 620 feet in length, with a speed of 13 knots and a carrying capacity of 115,000 barrels. During a navigation season it will be able to move more than 5,000,000 barrels from the projected pipeline terminal on Lake Superior to the refinery at Sarnia, Ont., making the round trip in five days.

It will be ready for service with Imperial in 1951 and will be built in Canada, but the contract has not yet been awarded.

Mr. White said "The invitation of the West" the topic of his address, is basically the same as the east or centre—an invitation to make the most of what nature has given and to prove that the 20th century really does belong to Canada.

"The basic principles which will insure our ability to take advantage of western opportunities will also insure our progress in all 10 of the provinces."

The resources of the west, said Mr. White, lend themselves to the development of almost every modern form of industrial activity, but he added that resources alone do not spell industrial growth and development.

POLICY AND ADMINISTRATION

IN THEIR REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS to the City Council, spokesmen for the firm of management engineers who have just completed a survey of the civic administration have pointed out diplomatically to the mayor and aldermen that at present the elected representatives take on their own shoulders too much of the work of the various departments. They have given support to the argument which has been advanced over the years in these columns that the council itself should deal with matters of policy and leave salaried employees, to carry out the programs that are laid down.

The procedure developed here has two serious demerits. In the first instance, it has tended to infringe upon the authority of the department heads concerned. In the second place, it has, through custom, made such demands on an alderman following the usual practice that many good potential candidates have been disinclined to stand for office, feeling they could not afford time for civic duties.

This, then, is one point which must be given serious thought as the mayor and aldermen consider recommendations by the experts that a director of administration or a city manager be appointed. Alderman Waldo Skilling's remarks on the subject bear directly on the issue. Because the mayor and aldermen are jealous of their prerogatives, he noted, the administrative officer would require absolute administrative powers. Without such authority, no official could do the job.

For the purposes of illustration, a practice once relatively common may be cited. When the council adopted the policy of removing certain boulevard trees from various streets, its decision was followed by an inspection by a large number of aldermen to determine which trees should be cut down. Was the parks commissioner unqualified to take action on his own initiative, buttressed by his expert knowledge? Such council supervision applied to simple matters is merely humorous. How shall it be assessed on issues of greater concern?

If it requires appointment of an expensive official to keep aldermanic fingers out of the administrative pie, creation of the suggested office appears justified. But it must be remembered that such an official will not, if he is worth his pay, brook undue interference. And when powers such as he would require are placed in one individual's hands, a certain measure of authoritarian practice is unavoidable. In the interests of efficiency, that may be satisfactory provided the individual in question is thoroughly competent. At all events, if the scheme is endorsed and put into operation, a new day will dawn for the City Council which may not be entirely propitious for elected representatives who like not only to make the decisions but to carry them out.

OVER-RATED FOR WHOM?

TWO ADMIRALS OF THE UNITED States Navy seem to be of the opinion that the disastrous potentialities of the atom bomb are considerably over-rated. This may be so. As we mentioned in these columns some time ago, the horrible contrivance for human slaughter such as, for instance, the latest designs in gas and bacteriological warfare, were not used in the Second World War, the implication being that the scientists of the '20's and the '30's had made such a hullabaloo about the potentialities of the products of the laboratories that even they themselves were scared. It was the dissemination of technical publicity projecting the results of their efforts which, of so one is led to believe, persuaded the great nations to refrain from recourse to the much advertised methods of modern warfare.

Notwithstanding the fact that the two United States admirals infer that the efficacy of the atom bomb is now and has been much over-rated, one disturbing fact remains. In the event of a Third World War, if one or other of the nations supposed to have in their possession a supply of the contrivance which wiped out Hiroshima and Nagasaki were to make up their minds to duplicate elsewhere the attack on the two great Japanese communities, the average peace-loving man and woman in the street could do nothing about it.

HOW IT IS DONE

A "PURGE" THE LAST RESORT OF A totalitarian state which feels it is losing the support of its population, is reportedly sweeping Czechoslovakia. Men and women in all walks of life are being confronted in their homes by armed police, or ordered to report to the nearest police station. After that, for all practical purposes, they vanish. Authorities, a news report says, refuse to divulge any information, even to weeping relatives who beseege them for news of missing loved ones. Estimates of the number seized run as high as 50,000. That is totalitarianism in action—whether it be Communism, Fascism or Nazism.

Another phase of the great round-up is described as an order for all citizens to turn in their firearms. Many were told to report for a "revision of their licenses" to own guns. The weapons—even down to air rifles—were then confiscated. The mass arrests have been interpreted as part of a campaign to eliminate the Czech middle class. Many shops are said to have opened yesterday under state control. Their proprietors had disappeared. The seizure of weapons points to government fear of a popular uprising—and well might such fears be held.

But while the democratic West may be appalled by these reports of mass action, it is the individual, personal aspects of the procedure which tell the story of humanity under a police state regime. Without appeal or redress, his family unable to learn of his fate and, indeed, fearful to enquire too far for fear the same befall them, the little man—the father, voter, worker, employer—can be snatched away by those who rule him, his life a mere pawn to be used in their plans. Those who are not killed on one pretext or another will, if the Russian system is followed, be sentenced to periods of years in labor camps—sentences which few may live to see completed. And there are still some—let it not be forgotten—who are working to establish such a regime in Canada!

SLOW BUT FAIR

THE SPEEDY "TRIALS" AND CONVICTIONS of men and women charged with various anti-state crimes have become commonplace in Hungary, Rumania, Yugoslavia and other Communist-dominated countries. A few days at most have sufficed to present the evidence, hear the arguments and confessions, and hand down judgment. Against this situation, therefore, it is difficult to see much sense in the charge of Eugene Dennis, the general secretary of the Communist Party in the United States, that his trial—and that of a handful of his party officials—has furnished a "miserable" example of "police state methods." For the New York trial, which went to the jury today, has taken up 167 days, having begun last Jan. 17.

Throughout the long sessions of the court the accused, who were charged with plotting to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force, have been given every possible opportunity to present a defence. Nor was the leniency of the court diminished by the obvious efforts of the defendants to confuse the issues and delay the process of justice. Except under the provocation of extreme contempt, the court allowed the accused full rein. Here were none of the abject confessions of those who have had a session with the minions of the "police state"; here was none of the peremptory, machine-like staging of, for instance, the recent Budapest trials. The wheels of democratic justice move slowly, but their pace is the protection of the individual. Mr. Dennis will have no legitimate complaint on that score.

FUTILE EXERCISE

IMPARTIAL STUDENTS WHO HAVE read "Oliver Twist" and the "Merchant of Venice" will readily admit that the two works by Charles Dickens and William Shakespeare have added nothing to the prestige of the Jew. Fagin and Shylock are not endearing characters. But should they be taken as more representative of their race than is Bill Sykes, the English plug-ugly in the former, or any of Shakespeare's national characters in others of his plays? Two great virtues must be recognized in the respective classics. The "Merchant of Venice" contains some of the most glorious of Shakespeare's lines. "Oliver Twist" is one of the more gripping of Dickens' works.

Under these circumstances, the efforts of Murray B. Rosenberg, of Brooklyn, to have the two books banned from New York City public school libraries suggests a degree of over-sensitiveness on his part that can be of scant value to his people. "Shylock" and "Fagin" did not prevent the emergence of Albert Einstein or his recognition throughout the literate world. All members of his faith cannot be Einsteins. Nor can any but the most biased be moved to hatred of the Jew, as an individual and as a race, by the two fictional characters. Anyone ignorant enough to be so influenced, we suggest, is probably too ignorant to have read either the novel or the play.

The New York Supreme Court has taken the obvious course in dismissing the application of Mr. Rosenberg. It is to be hoped he and his fellows of like mind will find more profitable and constructive use for their time and their energies than such attacks on books.

WHERE HAS HE BEEN?

IT IS A LITTLE DIFFICULT, WITHOUT further elaboration, to understand the significance of the statement by Gen. George R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., relative to the new approach to peace he advocates in view of Russia's development of an atomic bomb. Briefly, Gen. Pearkes states: "I feel that we—Canada, the United States, Britain and the western powers generally—should try to use the atomic bomb as a bargaining counter in an effort to bring about a limitation of armaments and so ensure world peace."

The idea is excellent—so excellent, in fact, that it has been a cardinal point in the policy followed by the United States since the outbreak of the "cold war." Perhaps too high a valuation was placed on that "counter" by the United States when it was an American monopoly. Perhaps Gen. Pearkes has some suggestion whereby its influence can become more effective. Or has no one drawn his attention to the bargaining efforts that have been proceeding in the international field on the A-bomb during the last few years?

Walter Lippmann

(Cabled from Paris)

PROOF OF U.S. INTENTIONS

THOUGH THE DEVALUATIONS and the atomic explosion cannot fail to have far-reaching consequences, a reporter endeavoring to measure them now has little to go on in the way of public material. In France and in Britain there are internal difficulties of which the outcome is not now predictable. As to international relations there has been some comment but not nearly so much as the intrinsic importance of these events would justify.

Yet the meagre reaction cannot mean that nothing is changed and that all will go on as before. It means rather that the reaction is delayed because those who best realize the seriousness of events are saying little. They hope they will be able to think a lot before they have to speak responsibly. For there is no clear and evident answer to the problems that have been posed. This is because the problems are so difficult and not because they do not exist.

THOUGH IT WAS A COINCIDENCE that news of the atomic explosion in Russia came so soon after the Anglo-American talks and the devaluations, the effects of the two developments are now deeply connected. For the way in which the devaluation crisis was handled has impaired the solidarity which the Atlantic community needs so very much in order to adjust itself to the strategic and political consequences of the Soviet bomb. Never was it more important that the nations of the continent should have confidence in the good faith and loyalty of Britain and America as members of the Atlantic community than at the moment when the American monopoly of the bomb had ended prematurely and so unexpectedly.

YET UNHAPPILY this has been the moment when the British and American statesmen went into a private huddle, and allowed—the impression that they are a special and privileged group, acting exclusively, when vital decisions are taken. It would be difficult to exaggerate the mischief and the danger of this impression, if it is not corrected before it takes hold—as it has not yet taken hold—of the passions of the masses of the people in France, in Germany, and on the Soviet borderland. For how can they be convinced that their security is truly the common concern of the two strongest and least vulnerable of their allies when in a matter of lesser gravity—the realignment of currencies—they were not consulted, were not even informed in advance, about decisions which affected them at home and abroad.

THE FRAGILE STRUCTURE of solidarity, laboriously built up in the Marshall Plan, the Atlantic Pact, and the Strasbourg assembly, has been badly cracked. That solidarity could be broken.

There will be a reaction to the peril, probably in a few weeks. It is likely to take the form of proposals originating among the Continental nations. They will pose the issue sharply, though moderately, and in technical rather than emotional terms, as to whether Britain will participate concretely, at some risk and sacrifice, in the European system, and what the United States will do about it. There may be proposals for the establishment of a European bank and monetary authority which would hold and manage some part of the gold and dollar reserves of all Marshall-aid countries, including Britain.

PROPOSALS OF THIS SORT would provide a test of the principle of mutual aid, and of whether it is in fact true that Britain, with the blessing of the U.S. State Department, is to draw away from the continent toward union, not with Europe, but with the United States.

The test is one which President Truman and Secretary Acheson ought to welcome as an opportunity to correct the impression created in September. If that impression is false, it can then be proved false. If inadvertently matters have been allowed to go wrong through accidents, pressures, and rather loose theorizing, they could be set right again. For the line taken in September, in so far as it tends to separate Britain and America from the rest of Europe, is an aberration of the most dangerous kind—one which is undermining the whole organization of the Atlantic community and its relations with Germany and with the Soviet Union.

IT CANNOT BE the considered purpose of the United States to do that. It is quite contrary to all her formal pledges and indeed contrary to the mandate of Congress as laid down in the law which governs the E.C.A. But a special and convincing effort is now necessary to demonstrate that this is still the United States' considered purpose. That will require more than words, and Americans should encourage the Marshall countries to propose measures which would enable the United States and Great Britain to reaffirm their loyalty to the larger community of the Atlantic nations.

PROTECT YOUR FRANCHISE

In view of the fact that many persons neglect to register in time for the municipal elections each year, the Local Council of Women wishes to call attention to the fact that this year's voters' list closes on October 31.

British subjects of 21 years, who have resided in the same municipality since January, 1949, can vote in the forthcoming election provided they are on the voters' list. Voters are divided into three categories: (a) Property owners, (b) License holders (business or professional), (c) Persons who pay the poll tax ($5) and the road tax ($2).

The name of a property owner goes on the list automatically. In all other cases the voter must register with the city clerk. The husband or wife of a property owner is not on the list unless the property is registered in both names.

A license holder must have paid his license for the current six-month period before he can register to vote.

Persons who do not own property may register after paying the following taxes: Men, poll tax and road tax; women, road tax only.

Women over 60 years are exempt from the road tax; men over 60 years are exempt from both taxes if their yearly income does not exceed $700.

The fact that a person has registered in a previous year does not necessarily mean that his name is retained on the list. Persons who have paid regular poll and road taxes, once registered, are retained on the list, but any exemptions (for military service, etc.) or any break in the continuity of tax payments calls for re-registration.

The time is short. If you have not already registered, do so without delay! To vote is a privilege, do not neglect it!

(Mrs.) AGNES M. PERRY, Corresponding secretary (pro tem.), Local Council of Women, 934 Empress Avenue.

SWALLOW PUZZLE

Re an article on your Editorial page "Radar and Migration," perhaps this explains the reason why the swallows deserted us this summer.

During the eight years I have lived at this address the birds have arrived regularly about April 6, departed around the end of August. During this period they raise two families. This year they arrived on time, raised one family in each of three nests, started to raise another, then fled overnight during the first week of July leaving unhatched eggs and little fledglings dead in the nests. Not only our own swallows but all those in the district seem to have gone at this same time.

We have been puzzled why this sudden migration should have taken place. Perhaps our local A.A. radar is the explanation. If not, can any of your readers suggest a reason.

'The Cop And The Kid'

By Sub-Inspector Carl Ledoux, B.C. Provincial Police

WITH deep satisfaction we read the other day of the excellent work being done by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in the schools. Released from Ottawa, two news items outlined the lecture program conducted in schools throughout Canada by members of the force.

Begun four years ago lectures accompanied by moving pictures have been brought to the classroom telling the younger generation of the life of the "Mountie," his history, and thrilling stories of the far north.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Throughout the talks, lessons on good citizenship are woven. Apparently each police division has one officer who devotes his entire time to this work of "youth and the police."

In this busy world all too often our attention is drawn to events in another city, another province, or even another country which both please and surprise us. But if we look about in our own neighborhood, we would find equally fine examples of public spiritedness.

In British Columbia, though there is no organized "school lecture plan," we find everywhere examples of individual action motivated by a sincere desire to combat juvenile delinquency and to bring about a happy community spirit among the youngsters.

Many a B.C. provincial policeman has realized this, and decided to "do something about it." We see these men in their own time, quite apart from official duty, without prompting or instruction, giving the youngsters the benefit of leadership and honest understanding. While some work is done in the classroom by members of the force assigned to traffic duty, a great deal more is accomplished after school hours in clubs, Scout troops, Guide groups, athletic organizations and similar activities.

... possible trouble.

More than 10 per cent of the members of the force have entered into voluntary juvenile work of one kind or another. For instance, in one of the larger municipalities policed by the B.C. Police, a constable set about creating a boxing club. Assisted by service clubs he was able to provide a healthful outlet for juvenile exuberance and many of the boys were kept off the streets.

A number of constables are either Scout masters or Cub masters. Several members have formed small clubs for model making or craft work, providing an interest and a goal to many a lad who would otherwise drift into bad companionship. Baseball and football clubs have been organized by individual members with a large measure of success.

Unfortunately, funds are usually lacking to carry out the work properly.

The constables are unable to purchase equipment necessary for these undertakings out of their own pockets and rely on local groups, or individuals, to provide space and material for meeting houses and supplies.

Not confined to male members of the force, three young ladies attached to the Victoria headquarters clerical staff add their support to the juvenile movement. These three girls devote at least one night a week to the youngsters as Girl Guide officers.

NO COMPULSION

The commissioner, John Shiras, gives his approbation and moral support to all those taking part in these very worthwhile undertakings, but no compulsion is exercised in any way, for he feels that successful work among children must spring from a personal desire to help them, rather than a duty to be performed. Children can detect perfunctory duty from an enthusiastic approach far more quickly than adults.

We hope that more of these men will take up the burden of the community in helping the young through the dangerous hours of the evening. To those already "doing their bit": the community's gratitude.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

THE RED purge which is sweeping Czechoslovakia is further proof—if more were needed—of Moscow's determination to establish world communism, and of the tremendous efficiency of the machine which backs that determination.

The Communist government in Prague, which grew out of the Russian military occupation at the end of the war, from the outset has encountered widespread resistance. Ineffective efforts by the authorities to bring recalcitrant citizens into line finally have resulted in a wholesale purge. This is described in news dispatches as creating a fear bordering on hysteria among the population.

By day and by night people are being arrested, and many of them reportedly are being sent to prisons or labor camps. The drive is said to be mainly against the propertied class, and businesses are being confiscated. The chief causes of this upheaval are threefold:

1. The intense fervor of the people as a whole for their democracy, and their refusal to surrender their nationalism to Moscow.

2. The opposition of landowners and big business to nationalization.

3. The bitter clash between atheistic communism and a highly religious population, some 75 per cent of which is Roman Catholic. In order to get the full significance of what is happening you must have experienced the tremendous pride of the Czechoslovaks in their new republic, which was born at Versailles out of the First World War. I was present at the birth in 1919, and a year later spent some weeks in the new Czechoslovakia.

My outstanding impressions during a memorable tour of the country revolved about this devotion to country. The people were as happy and naively proud as a lad with his first long trousers. And there was much to make them happy for theirs was a lovely and prosperous land with fine prospects. And it was all theirs, with the seeming certainty that never would any big power be allowed to trespass on their sovereignty.

POSTER FREE POSTS

Financial Post
Fort Erie, Ont., took a step last week which will win wide approval, though some politicians may not agree. A new bylaw prohibits posters, political or any other kind, on any of the municipality's utility poles. "It's all part of our beautification drive," explained Mayor Ziff.

Most people, we think, will agree with Mayor Ziff that the bulk of these posters are far from beautiful. Especially is this true after the wind and rain and sun have played with them for a week or two.

Although the last election was over months ago, thousands of these faded appeals are still to be seen tacked to poles and roadside trees. It's too bad that some bright person hasn't invented a political poster that would disintegrate and disappear the moment the polls closed.

LAST LINE OF FREEDOM

Winnipeg Free Press
Even if there were no dollar emergency the strategic position of the Indian nations would compel the western world to offer them the means of economic strength which is essential to military strength. And even if there were no military emergency the western world would be blind not only to its moral obligations but its long-term interests if it failed to cultivate the friendship of the two free nations which will so largely dominate the future of the Asiatic world. They offer us markets for our goods and valuable goods in return. They offer us the chance to hold the last line of freedom against Communism in Asia. Above all, they offer us the opportunity of bridging the ancient gap between the white and colored peoples—a division in the human family which could become more dangerous in the future even than the menace of Communism.

Physician M.P. Urges Wider Immunization Against Disease

OTTAWA (CP)—A prominent Ontario physician indicated in the Commons Wednesday he feels that parents should be prosecuted if their children die from diseases against which they could have been immunized.

Dr. W. G. Blair, 59-year-old Progressive Conservative member for the Ontario constituency of Lanark, said the time has come when a coroner's inquest should be held if a child dies from diphtheria or other communicable disease for which immunization is available.

He made the statement during debate on a private member's resolution calling for the establishment of a committee on public health, welfare, social security and housing.

MOTION DEFEATED

The resolution, sponsored by Donald Fleming (P.C.-Toronto-Eglinton) was defeated "on division"—with a formally recorded vote—after Acting Health Minister Claxton had said the government could not accept the proposal. The resolution received verbal support from the C.C.F. and Social Credit leaders.

Mr. Claxton said the extension of "functional" committees eventually would have the effect of breaking down the system under which the government assumes responsibility for measures. The committees inevitably would attempt to take over the operations of government.

Dr. Blair, reviewing the scientific advances in the field of medicine, said "we are positive now, for instance, that there is no reason why any child in this country should die of diphtheria."

The physician said some of the main health problems are in the middle and later years of life. Heart diseases now were among the chief killers. There should be greater provision for research and treatment of cardiac cases.

Say Nanaimo Arena In Need Of Repair

NANAIMO—A total of $30,800 is needed to repair the Nanaimo Civic Arena, members of the arena commission told city council here.

A result of the hearing may be submission of a referendum to the ratepayers, regarding the raising of funds to repair and modernize the arena. Chairman A. E. Filmer outlined work which commissioners felt would have to be done.

It included replacement of ice pipes at $18,000, replacement of the heating plant, outside walks and repairs to steps and floors inside the arena. The commissioners were advised to secure all necessary data regarding their proposals for presentation to the council later.

Ten years ago, built as a community effort, the arena cost $100,000. Council floated a bond issue of $60,000, the Nanaimo Gyro Club gave $25,000 and the remaining $15,000 was subscribed by service clubs and other local organizations.

New Veterans' Hall Under Way At Sidney

SIDNEY—C. S. Goode, president of the army, navy and air force veterans, here, said Wednesday the new $15,000 hall and clubrooms, now under construction on Fourth Street near Beacon Avenue, are expected to be opened in December.

A library, cardroom, billiard room and main hall will be included in the building which will measure 110 feet by 45. It will be a single-story structure, to which a second story can be added if desired.

"It is possible that in due course an application for a beer license may be made," according to officials.

Membership of the club, which, owing to the size of the meeting place, was restricted to 50, will now be open to all veterans.

"In Turin, near the French frontier, there exists an organization for the export and import of girls," Senator Angelina Merlin told the senate.

"They are gathered together for export to America as ballerinas or secretaries, are taken to Switzerland, and by shameful manoeuvres are then enslaved to the infamous trade."

Free But Restricted Press In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Freedom of the press is guaranteed in Argentina's new constitution, but a new law places considerable restriction on its use.

The legislation has a two-fold purpose—to protect public officials from criticism, and to spare the new government "embarrassment" in its relations with foreign countries.

Prison terms are provided for those "who provoke to duel, threaten, injure or in any other way offend public officials. Truth is not considered as a defence for the accused."

The higher the official the tougher the punishment. A proven "offence" against an income tax collector, for instance, may be penalized with a prison term from two months to one year. In the case of the president, vice-president, legislators, cabinet members and judges the penalty is six months to three years.

800 Teachers From All Parts Island Will Convene Here

R. H. HEYWOOD

... heads convention committee.

Victoria will be the "classroom" for 800 public school teachers Nov. 3, 4 and 5 when the Vancouver Island Teachers' Association holds its third annual convention.

It will be a professional convention when matters of policy will not enter discussions. The teachers, from all parts of the island will take part in 22 subject sectional meetings during the conference.

A committee of 12 Greater Victoria teachers and up-island representatives, headed by R. H. Heywood of Victoria High School, has finalized plans for the meeting.

All sessions will be held at Victoria High School and on the opening evening Dr. Thomas R. Cole, professor of education at University of Washington, will speak at a public meeting in the school auditorium on "Extremes and Reversals in Education."

Sectional meetings will be held the following day, and a business session is scheduled for the final day of the convention.

Defends CBC Before Royal Commission

WINNIPEG (CP)—A CBC official Wednesday defended the corporation before the Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences against criticisms of both the standard and the origin of its programs.

J. R. Finley of Winnipeg, the CBC's prairie representative, said "We feel we are trying to give a well-balanced program structure for musical activities in Winnipeg."

Submitting the CBC prairie region brief, he replied to criticisms made Tuesday by the Arts Council of Manitoba and the Federation of Canadian Music Festivals. Their briefs charged that the standard of much CBC material was low and that too many of its "live" programs originated in eastern Canada.

Mr. Finley told the Royal Commission, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, that the corporation spends nearly $160,000 yearly on local talent in the prairie region, most of it in Winnipeg.

"We are not in any mental strait-jacket, even if we are in a financial one," he said. "We are aware of our own deficiencies."

The brief has been prepared by a committee headed by Austin Curtis.

OUTDATED, INEFFICIENT

The brief states: "This chamber feels that the license fee method of financing the CBC is outdated and inefficient and we recommend that money required for the operation of the national networks be supplied by a government grant from general revenue."

While the license fee on radio receivers was probably the only fair and just method of financing in the early days when only a small percentage of the population owned radios, the brief points out, today about 96 per cent of the homes in Canada are radio equipped so there can be little injustice in financing the government radio corporation from general tax revenue.

'WASTEFUL, EXPENSIVE'

"We believe the present method of individual licenses is wasteful, expensive and inefficient," the brief continues. "It is obviously wasteful when it requires an army of inspectors, calling from door to door, and taking a commission on every license fee collected."

"It is expensive in that the total cost of collecting, registering and administering a $2.50 license fee, we are informed, is around 50 cents, or 20 per cent. This is much too high for any license or tax."

MANY DO NOT PAY

"It is inefficient," the brief goes on, "in that many radio owners do not pay the radio license fee, and have never paid it. This is particularly true in the outlying areas, farming regions and backwoods because the door-to-door license fee collectors, operating as they do on a commission of 25 cents per license, do not find it profitable in regions of widely separated homes."

Saskatchewan P.C.'s Elect New Leader

REGINA (CP)—Alvin Hamilton, 37, of Saskatoon, for the last year a full-time organizer for the Progressive Conservative party in Saskatchewan, Wednesday was elected its leader. He succeeds Rupert Ramsay, also of Saskatoon, now living in British Columbia.

Directors agreed no action should be taken on the matter.

They're All Ears

Two fennecs—sometimes called North African foxes—are new arrivals at the St. Louis Zoo. Children find them amusing because of their long, donkey-like ears.

Want 10 Branches Of Cultural Centre

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce heartily endorses the proposal for a national cultural centre at Ottawa it was stated in a brief reviewed at a directors' meeting Wednesday.

The brief noted, however, in view of the immense distances involved in this country, comparatively few of the people comprising the population will have the opportunity to take advantage of such a centre and it is to be borne in mind that the taxpayers throughout the length

Garage Founder Dies Suddenly At Home

Albert Edward Deighton, 63, founder of, Deighton Service Station at 752 Caledonia Avenue, died suddenly Wednesday at his home, 1006 North Park Street. Funeral services will be held from Sands Mortuary at 3 p.m. Thursday. Burial will be at Colwood Park.

and breadth of the nation will be contributing to its upkeep.

The chamber suggests therefore, that branches of the main cultural centre be set up in each of the ten provincial capitals to serve the needs of the people in the provinces concerned.

Compulsory Military Training Suggested For Canadian Youths

The question of whether or not Canadian youths should be required to do compulsory military training was discussed briefly by directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Wednesday.

While no definite decision was made by the board, all who spoke on the subject expressed the opinion that the idea had many advantages.

The subject was raised in a letter from the North Waterloo (Ont.) Citizens' Committee. The letter explained the citizens' committee had been working since October, 1947, studying the question of Canadian defence.

It stated the committee had given particularly attention to the job of reserve army regiments and had found them to be greatly understaffed.

If Canada is not to be caught napping in the event of another war, the letter stated, she must have a nucleus of an effective fighting force. The nucleus does not now exist.

The letter added that the citizens committee of North Waterloo, therefore, deemed it necessary for the Dominion government to institute a compulsory program of compulsory military service.

Duncan MacBride, former chamber president, said he personally was in favor of such a program. He said military preparedness in Canada at the outbreak of World Wars I and II had been sadly lacking.

Other members of the board agreed that the idea was sound but decided that in view of the issue's national importance, it should be a matter for the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to take in hand, rather than any local chamber.

Suicide Verdict

A verdict that Nicholas Keeper, 21-year-old logger, died as a result of suicide, was returned by a coroner's jury at Campbell River Wednesday. Keeper died from a gunshot wound at the Salmon River Lodge Sunday night.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

TEACH CHILD TO BE CONSIDERATE

When a mother complains that she gets no consideration from her children, it may be that she has never made them aware of the meaning of consideration.

Children are selfish and self-centred. They believe, unless we show them differently, that the world revolves about them. They have to be made aware that every street is a two-way one. That is if we receive we must give, whether it be consideration or kindness or whatever.

Mrs. F. H. feels that her children have no consideration for her. "My girl is 9 years old and my boy is 14," she writes, "and I work like a slave for them. Neither of them ever wants to do anything for me. Both of them want to play the minute they come from school."

"They boy is in the school orchestra, the girl takes dancing lessons. Both of them have lots of friends and would like to be gone every minute they are out of school. Do I ask too much of them? Shouldn't they consider me, some of the time?"

I think your attitude is wrong. It isn't the theme "help me" which should be emphasized, but doing their share of keeping up what is a common blessing, their home. This means some share of work for all according to the time they have to spare and their capacities.

Each child should have a list of tasks to be completed during the week. Let them make the time for them. It may not be at the hours you might choose, but if the work is done that is all that should concern you.

It is possible for a mother, with several young children, to feel sorry for herself. She has lots of work to do, she gets tired, the children seem indifferent to her sacrifices and she feels resentful.

But all minor children are entitled to shelter, to food, clothing, medical and dental care and schooling. They are entitled to recreation, for school is a serious business and when they come home they need to romp and yell and play as an antidote to long hours of inactivity and concentration.

If you take all of this into consideration and expect some help from the children (but not any real relief from your own responsibilities, which are yours and yours alone) you'll get it. Let them think of themselves as members of the family doing their part to keep it up, and not just mother's little helpers.

Our leaflet No. 49, "Home Tasks," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

CHOCOLATE BAVARIAN PIE

Baked pie shell 1 1/4 tbsps. plain unflavored gelatin 1 cup granulated sugar 1/4 tsp. salt 2 cups milk 1 tsp. pure vanilla 2 ozs. unsweetened chocolate 1/2 cup whipped cream 2 eggs 1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Bake and cool a 9-inch pie shell. Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup of the cold milk. Place remaining milk in top of double boiler; cut up and add chocolate, heat until chocolate melts, then beat smooth with rotary beater. Beat egg yolks slightly and beat in 1/4 cup of the sugar, and salt. Stir in chocolate mixture, turn back into double boiler and stir over gently boiling water until the mixture thickens so that it will coat a spoon. Add gelatin, stir until dissolved, then strain. Chill with occasional stirring, until as thick as a very heavy syrup. Add vanilla; fold in whipped cream; fold in also the egg whites, which have been beaten until stiff but not dry, and into which the remaining sugar has gradually been beaten. Add walnuts. Turn into the pie shell and chill until firm. Top with whipped cream and cherry flowers.

Lottery Man Loses Appeal Against Fine Of $1,000

Frank Hilton, who pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawfully operating sweepstakes here, has lost his appeal for a reduction in sentence.

Appeal Court Wednesday dismissed his appeal against a fine of $1,000 and an alternative of six months imprisonment imposed by Magistrate H. C. Hall. Hilton, who has been unable to pay the fine, will have to serve the term of imprisonment.

Hilton, through his counsel Joseph McKenna, sought to have the sentence reduced to time served in jail.

Mr. McKenna argued that the sentence imposed by the magistrate was unreasonable in view of the nature of the offence.

Magistrate Hall in his reasons for sentence expressed the opinion that the Canada-wide lottery was fraudulent because Hilton had refused to give satisfactory answers as to how the sweepstake was operated. There were also no records as to how many prizes had been distributed.

W. C. Moresby, K.C., acting as Crown counsel, opposed any reduction in sentence. He argued that the sentence was reasonable and pointed out that the maximum sentence was a $2,000 fine as well as two years in jail.

Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan in dismissing the appeal said notwithstanding the careful and able argument, the Appeal Court was unable to find any reason for altering Magistrate Hall's sentence on Hilton.

The DOCTOR Says:

SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT OF HYSTERIA IS OFTEN CHALLENGING

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

We have all heard or perhaps used the expression "Don't be hysterical." Usually this admonition is given to a person who is emotionally upset and is laughing or crying too hard or showing an uncontrollable fit of rage. As soon as such a person gets control over his emotions he becomes perfectly normal. This is not the meaning which doctors place on the word when they speak of hysteria.

Hysteria from the medical viewpoint is something quite different. It is used to describe a condition which usually cannot be controlled by conscious effort. The patient with true hysteria has disturbances in sensation, perhaps convulsions, or is unable to move certain muscles.

In hysteria, an attack of convulsions may be started because of some emotional situation. The convulsions allow the victim of hysteria to escape from a difficult situation. Of course, not all convulsions are caused by hysteria and they must be distinguished from the convulsions produced by epilepsy or from other nervous conditions.

SKIN UNABLE TO "FEEL"

The change in sensation often present in hysteria is a most interesting condition. The ability of some part of the skin to "feel" is generally lost entirely; a pin can be stuck deep into that area without causing any pain.

The treatment of symptoms of true hysteria is often difficult. The cause of the mental strain must be sought and studied. Gradual persuasion and re-education methods must be used on many occasions. The successful treatment of hysteria is a challenging and difficult problem. It cannot always be successful; it is helpful for some, but cessfully solved.

Question: What is the cause of sores on my feet which look like blisters and water comes out of them when they break? They are also itchy.

Answer: There are several possibilities, the most likely of which is some form of what is commonly known as ringworm. Probably the diagnosis can only be made by taking scrapings from them and examining them under the microscope.

Holders Of Title Deeds Of Utility To Be Paid

L. J. Eekman, acting Belgian consul in Victoria, announced today that the consul-general at Montreal advises that Belgian bearers of title-deeds of the "Societies de gaz et d'Electricite," which was nationalized in France and Algeria following a convention between the Belgian and French governments, will be indemnified.

Belgian bearers of such deeds living in Canada who wish to benefit from the decision of the convention should get in touch with the Belgian consul-general at Montreal.

discovered by neighbors shortly after the blast.

The Welland Canal was completed in 1829.

Unable To Attend Mother's Funeral

OTTAWA (CP)—Tony Golab, plunging star of the Ottawa Roughriders, received word Wednesday that his mother, Mrs. Michael Golab of Windsor, Ont., had died in a Detroit hospital.

game against Montreal Alouettes, will be unable to attend his mother's funeral.

The Ottawa player's left leg was placed in a cast Wednesday. He will be confined to hospital for two or three weeks.

Plans Made For Audie Murphy To Act In War Story

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Audie Murphy's film career seems to be progressing despite his marital troubles. He is going ahead with plans to film his war experiences.

The much-decorated hero told me that the outlook is bright for an early film of his story, "To Hell and Back."

At first, the former soldier balked at playing himself on the screen, but he apparently relented. He told his story with modesty in the book, and perhaps can do the same on the screen.

ROAD TO WHERE?

Will Bing and Bob hit the "road" again? That's the prime question around Paramount these days. There has been talk about a "Road to Paris," but one producer told me: "There are only two men who can say whether it will be made—that's Hope and Crosby; and I haven't seen either of them making a move yet."

Judy Garland sounded great with Crosby on his air show. Wouldn't they make an ideal screen pairing? Bing could use a high-voltage co-star.

Robert Taylor received a petition from girl employees at his studio, urging him to return to romantic roles. He plays an Indian in "Devil's Doorway" and the gals would rather see him in something like "Waterloo Bridge" or "Camille." Taylor was impressed, and agrees that after a couple of westerns, he'd like to get back to something romantic.

BOWERBIRDS BUILD
PLAYHOUSES AND DECORATE THEM WITH FLOWERS

Bowerbirds have been called "the most interesting group of birds in the world."

That is a broad statement, since there are many kinds of interesting birds, but bowerbirds surely rank at, or near, the top. They build playhouses, and there is strong reason to say that they have a sense of beauty.

Australia is the chief home of bowerbirds, though some of them live on islands north of Australia.

The satin bowerbird is one member of the family. It is found in the Australian provinces of Queensland, Victoria and New South Wales. The males have feathers of purple and black, and their eyes are blue except for a little red circle in each. The female has green, brown and yellow feathers.

Satin bowerbirds are a little larger than robins. They make their nests in trees and tall trees, at heights of from six to 40 feet above the ground.

The nests are for eggs, but in addition the satin bowerbirds build playhouses, or bowers on the ground. First a platform about three inches thick is made with twigs. Then the birds build up walls of twigs on each side of the platform. The walls slope together at the top.

The birds use the bower for a game very much like tag. At least they chase one another through the bower, and around it, very much as if they were playing tag.

Other members of the family include the spotted bowerbird, Newton's bowerbird and the reftent.

Newton's bowerbird is known for its custom of decorating the bowers with flowers. Other bowerbirds do this to some extent, but this one seems to be the chief "florist."

An Australian who spent many hours watching Newton's bowerbirds made this report: "The flowers are placed upright, but I once turned an orchid upside down. Later I watched an old male pick up the orchid and set it upright again. I did this again, and the same old male put the flower upright."

Gee Fires Detroit To Victory Over Boston

George Gee, Detroit Red Wings rugged centre, recovered his scoring eye and sent the Wings off to a flying start in the National Hockey League for their 10th year in a row.

The 27-year-old native of Stratford, Ont., fired both goals as the Wings defeated Boston Bruins 2 to 1 before a crowd of 11,061 at Detroit last night. Both came after Paul Ronty's early tally gave Boston a 1 to 0 lead.

The two points earned by the victory also put Detroit all alone on top of the standings. The league's other four teams don't start until later.

The Canadiens open against Chicago Black Hawks in the only game tonight. Toronto Maple Leafs, Stanley Cup champions, are at home to Chicago Saturday night while New York Rangers, perennial doormats of late years, make their first start at Montreal.

Gee's fast start may mean the 170-pound centre is headed back for a sharp-shooting season. Last year, when he was traded to Detroit from Chicago part way through the schedule, he netted only seven goals for the entire season, although picking up 14 assists.

ROOKIE IMPRESSIVE

Jack Gelineau, the former McGill University goalie starting his first season in the Boston series, looked good despite his loss. The 24-year-old rookie, brought up when Frankie Brimsek was traded to Chicago, handled 28 Detroit shots compared to Lumley's 22 saves.

None of the players who figured in the big off-season deal between Detroit and Boston took part in the scoring. Bill Quackenbush, all-star defenceman who was the central figure in the deal, took his turn on the Boston defence against his old mates.

Two of the four players Boston gave for him—Pete Babando and Jimmy Peters—teamed with the veteran Sid Abel on Detroit's starting line and another, Clare Martin, alternated at defence.

PICKS HAWKS

If you take Dick Irvin's word for it, the Wings won't end their 70-game schedule in first place this season. The Canadiens coach last night picked Chicago (not his own team) to take the top spot.

After watching the Hawks work out in the Montreal Forum, Irvin said that Brimsek's presence in the Hawk nets is one of the factors that should see Chicago win the league title by 10 points.

Summary follows:
First period—Boston, Ronty (Peters), 5:45; 2, Detroit, Gee (Reise), 1:45. Penalties: Ronty, Peters, Babando, Reise, Henderson, Babando.
Second period—No scoring. Penalties: Lindsay, Henderson, Peters, Reise, Kelly, 1:30. Penalties: Peters, Reise, Henderson.

Yanks Pay Highly For Coast League Players

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees, announcing they won't "stand pat" on their present world championship team, today bought two of the brightest stars in the Pacific Coast League.

Manager Casey Stengel announced the purchase of Jackie Jensen, outfielder who is a former California football star, and Alfred (Billy) Martin, an infielder.

They were bought from the Oakland club, which Stengel managed last year.

No price was divulged but it's rumored the Yankees shelled out in the neighborhood of $100,000 and five players for the two athletes who were widely sought after by major league clubs.

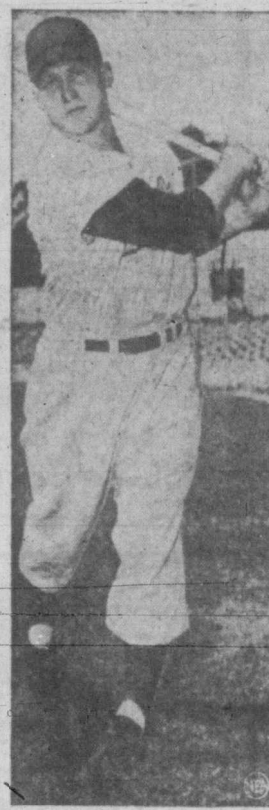

They will report for spring training next March.

"You never sit tight," Casey told newspapermen in the Yankees' final press conference of the season yesterday.

"You can't afford to stand pat in this league. We're going to try to strengthen our pitching staff although it looked pretty good in the last week. Sure, we could use a couple of pitchers. I'd like to improve my outfield a little, too."

Jensen, 22, is the former football star at the University of California. He is a bonus player. Oakland owner C. L. (Burr) Lums, in beating 14 big-league clubs to his services, lured him at the close of the college baseball season last spring with a bonus of $40,000 plus a three-year contract at $15,000 a year.

The Yankees, who must either keep him or let him go via waivers next year because of his "bonus" tag, will undertake the financial obligations.

Annual Naval Golf Handicap Tourney Billed Oct. 20-23

Annual handicap golf tournament sponsored by the Royal Canadian Naval Golf Association will be held at the Gorge Vale Golf Club from Oct. 20 to 23, it was announced today.

All members of the R.C.N.G.A. are invited to enter the competition, and entries will be received by the ships' golf representatives until Oct. 18 at noon.

Handicaps will be set by the R.C.N.G.A. handicap committee on the basis of scores posted by members in past competitions. On the basis of the net scores in the qualifying round, the eight players with lowest scores will form the championship flight.

Special prizes to be offered on the basis of qualifying scores include low gross, low net, hidden hole high and low score, and best poker hand for five hidden holes.

All matches will be 18 holes except the final in the championship flight, which will be a 36-hole affair. Following the final match, refreshments will be served in the Chief Petty Officers' Mess, H.M.C.S. Naden, on Oct. 23 at 5 in the evening.

Prizes and trophies will be presented.

Leonard Shatters Par In Taking B.C. Open

VANCOUVER (CP)—Little Stan Leonard of Vancouver's Marine Drive made a shambles Wednesday of the finest field ever to contest the $2,000 British Columbia Open golf tournament as he wound up the three days of play with a 13-under-par 271.

In second place was Fred Wood of Vancouver Shaughnessy, while third place fell to Joe Greer of Yakima, Wash., who had a 293 total compared to Wood's 290. Leonard collected $500, Wood $300 and Greer $175.

Ed (Porky) Oliver, genial pro from Seattle, couldn't do much more than keep the gallery in high fettle. He checked in with 297. Last year's winner, Chuck Congdon of Tacoma, tied at 294 with Ted Neist of Walla Walla, and Vancouver, B.C., amateur Bill Mawhinney.

Duke Matthews of Olympia came second in low amateur standing with 301.

Leonard put together scores of 70-68-65-68 over the par-71 course.

Seattle In Fourth Victory

Royals Here Friday

Frank Dotten's Seattle Ironmen took a four-point jump ahead of the other five teams in the northern division of the Pacific Coast Hockey League last night when they notched their fourth straight victory at the expense of Tacoma, 7 to 4.

Next in line to the high-flying Seattle sextette is New Westminster. The Royals scored their second win of the young season by trouncing the winless Portland Penguins, 5 to 1.

In the only southern division fixture, San Francisco Shamrocks gained revenge for their

5 to 3 setback at the hands of Fresno Falcons Tuesday, by scoring a 6 to 2 decision over last year's league champs.

Paced by Rudy Filion and Joe Medynski who scored two goals apiece, the Ironmen never had much trouble with the Rockets.

Medynski opened the scoring for Ironmen at 8:12 in the first period, but Doug Adam tied it up five and a half minutes later.

Filion gave winners a 2 to 1 first-period lead.

Midway through the second, Andy Lambrecht tied it up again for Tacoma, but Seattle went ahead to stay near the end of the session on a pair of goals by Medynski and Cal Stearns.

MISCONDUCT
Ken Simpson, Filion and Pete Pidsodny notched the Ironmen's third-period tallies, while Wingy Johnston and Dick Milford replied for the Rockets.

A pair of infractions featured the final period when Joey Johns, Tacoma, and Stan Maxwell, Ironmen, were banished five minutes for fighting and Norm Gustavsen of the Rockets and Medynski were given 10-minute misconduct sentences.

At New Westminster, the Royals gained a 2 to 0 lead in the opening period on tallies by Don Slater and Kenny Ulyot.

Teams went scoreless in the second period, and Morrie Hamilton put Portland back in the game at the one-minute mark of the final on a solo effort.

Snapping up Bobby Love's pass, Maurice Duffy made it 3 to 1 for the Royals 19 seconds later, however, and towards the middle of the period, Ken Cook and Slater added two more for good measure on relays from Love and coach Babe Pratt, respectively.

Brilliant net-minding by Portland's Tom Karakas saved the score from reaching higher proportions.

COUGARS SEEK REVENGE
League is idle tonight, but play resumes in Victoria Friday when the Cougars entertain the strong New Westminster squad.

The Eddie Wares-coached club will be out for revenge against the Royals who whipped the Cougars by the tune of 10 to 2 in the league opener last Saturday.

Other northern division tussles Thursday will see Vancouver Canucks play host to Portland, while in the southern section, San Diego will tackle the untied Oakland Oaks.

No Duck Shooting On Island Until Nov. 12

The Victoria game office today issued a warning to island duck hunters that ducks, coots and geese do not become legal targets on Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands until Nov. 12. Season lasts until Jan. 10.

This warning comes because of the misunderstanding that the island got the same split season as the lower mainland—Oct. 15 to Nov. 13 and Dec. 17 to Jan. 3. It is understood that some hunters were planning duck shooting trips tomorrow.

The same setup applies for Wilson snipe, the season not opening here until Nov. 12.

Throughout the western district snow geese and black brant open season is Dec. 17 to Feb. 28.

District Soccer League Lead At Stake Saturday

The league-leading Canadian Legion soccer squad will play host to Duncan Native Sons in a regular, Victoria and District Soccer League match at Athletic Park Saturday.

Also on the Saturday card, the Alcos will attempt to score their first league victory when they stack up against Esquimalt at Heywood Avenue. Both games start at 2:30.

The unbeaten Legion squad will likely be at full strength for Saturday's game with the exception of young Den McGee, recently signed by Victoria United. However, they will have to be at their best as the up-landers boast a strong squad and have several scoring threats in Eugene and Abner Thorne and Francis Johnny.

A double bill is scheduled at Athletic Park on Sunday, with Heaneys tackling Oak Bay in the opener at 1:30 and Wests and Navy meeting in the second tilt at 3:15.

League secretary Don Gray released the remainder of the first-half schedule today, which will run until the first week of November. Officials have decided to run off a few cup competition rounds before commencing the second-half play.

Remainder of the first-half schedule follows:
Oct. 22—Heaneys vs. Navy; Oak Bay vs. Wests.
Oct. 23—Esquimalt vs. Duncan; Canadian Legion vs. Alcos.
Oct. 29—Duncan vs. Wests; Alcos vs. Heaneys.
Oct. 30—Oak Bay vs. Esquimalt; Navy vs. Canadian Legion.
Nov. 5—Canadian Legion vs. Oak Bay; Esquimalt vs. Navy.
Nov. 6—Wests vs. Alcos; Heaneys vs. Duncan.

Parties will be announced later.

Bays, Blacks Score One-Sided Rugby Wins

A pair of lop-sided games marked the opening of the inter-high Senior Rugby League yesterday. At Windsor Park, a heavier, more experienced Oak Bay High squad thumped Victoria High Golds, 38 to 0; while at Esquimalt, the home team had much the same trouble as the Golds, dropping a 25 to 0 decision to Vic High Blacks.

In the Bays-Golds tilt, Johnny Johnson took a pass from Roy Derry and raced over for the first try in the opening minute of play, and from then on it was a loose ball to make it 6 to 0 and Ken Higgs converted from a difficult angle. Tries by Alan Richardson and Jim Burns, and another conversion by Higgs gave winners a commanding 16 to 0 halftime lead.

Oak Bay ran wild again in the second half. Higgs crossed the line twice and added two more converts, while Burns, Johnson, Alexander and Bob Smith scored a try each.

Johnson and Higgs played outstanding ball for winners, while Jerry Collison was the pick of Vic High Golds.

Vic High Blacks rolled over Esquimalt in a fast, wide-open affair. Norm Kowalyk played a sparkling game on Blacks' three-line and accounted for most of the scoring. Half-time score was 14 to 0.

Canada's Chances Improve

By JACK SULLIVAN
Things are looking up for Canada's track men in the British Empire Games at Auckland, N.Z., next February. They probably won't set the games on fire but chances of avoiding a "skunk" become brighter by the day.

For this, a vote of thanks should go to Jamaica, Trinidad, Australia and England. Advance information is that track stars of world or near-world calibre from these countries won't be around at Eden Park when the week-long games open Feb. 4.

Against such opposition, Canada's track team, which reads like a "who's who" of athletes who competed for the Dominion in the 1948 Olympics, couldn't hope to get close.

WINT, McKENLEY OUT
A big huzzah should go to Jamaica. Its two top stars—Arthur Wint and Herb McKenley—are passing up the New Zealand trip.

OLYMPIC ACES MISSING
Alan McCorquodale of England, fourth in the 100-metre Olympic final behind Americans, and McDonald Bailey, from Trinidad, who placed sixth, are non-starters. McCorquodale wasn't chosen by the B.E. Games Association in England and Bailey hasn't the necessary cash to pay his fare from England to New Zealand.

AUSSIES MAY HELP
There are indications, also, that Australia might help Canada's cause. The Aussie team won't be chosen until December but word is that their hot-shot track men won't be going to New Zealand.

Morris Curotta, fifth in the 400-metre run at the Olympics, has gone to the U.S. to study, and Johnny Treloar, who beat Canadians in the preliminary sprint rounds, is a doubtful starter.

Vic High Totems, Navy Meet In Cage Exhibition Friday

Victoria High School Totems will attempt to score their first cage triumphs of the season tomorrow night when they tangle with the Navy squad from the men's senior B city league. Totems were beaten in their opening game last Friday by a team composed of last year's students.

A preliminary game between the school's two junior teams, the Reds and Golds, will precede the main attraction. Opening game will start at 8, with a Pro-Rex display carded at 9. Feature will get under way at 9:15.

Strength of the Navy quintette is not known, but there are a few of last year's players back with several additions. Starting lineup will see Stan Sangster and Norm Haskell open at guard, Dick Shelton and Bill Crabbe in the two wing forward slots and Dave Birch in the bucket. Spares include Stan James, Gerry Sparks, Bowman and Eggleton.

Vic High's popular drum majorettes will give a display at the half-time interval in the feature contest.

B.C. Forest Output Shows Gain For July And August

More B.C. timber was scaled in July and August of this year than in the same months of last year but the province's mighty forest industry still hasn't made up for its poor start this year.

B.C. Forest Service reported today that the timber scale to Aug. 31 was 2,407,826,179 F.B.M. and 1,925,709 cubic feet. This compared with 2,597,661,310 F.B.M. and 1,427,826 cubic feet at the same date in 1948.

The industry got off to a poor start this year because of bad weather conditions and a big carryover of logs from the previous year while market conditions were uncertain.

The log scale for the first five months was short of that for the corresponding months of last year. Since the end of May, however, the industry has been producing at an all-out rate and log scale figures have bested those for corresponding months of last year.

In its latest report the forest service gave July production at 400,531,172 F.B.M. and 440,744 cubic feet for this year. This compared with 351,392,951 F.B.M. and 437,900 cubic feet for the previous July.

August production this year was 404,508,625 F.B.M. and 386,339 cubic feet. This corresponds with 387,721,023 F.B.M. and 308,103 cubic feet for August, 1948.

The 1948 production was the greatest in the history of the province. To date this year there have also been cut 18,386,173 lineal feet of poles, against 15,955,222 lineal feet at the same time last year; 72,370 cords of fuel wood, against 74,226 cords last year, and 338,208 heven ties, against 407,947 last year.

Breakdown of the eight-month log scale in F.B.M. by species is as follows: Fir, 1,055,364,239; cedar, 353,267,153; spruce, 277,651,830; lodgepole pine, 28,280,386; hemlock, 469,811,163; balsam, 112,955,047; white pine, 21,415,609; yellow pine, 25,870,016; cypress, 2,530,639; larch, 48,110,978; hardwoods, 7,691,082; and cottonwood, 3,078,055.

Plenty Of Fruit But Prices Set To Advance Here

"You'd think it was summer," said the lower Yates Street fruit wholesaler as he looked over the crates of fruit stored in his warehouse. "Why, we've got everything."

Since the first of the month, when Finance Minister Abbott dropped Canadian import restrictions, wholesalers here have been bringing in carload after carload of various fruits until now, as the wholesaler says, they have just about everything.

Most recent items to be added to the growing list of fruits available here are watermelons and persimmons.

The fruit news is not all bright, though. Dealers have received word that citrus fruit prices have taken a sharp rise in the fruit belts. The price will have to be increased correspondingly in Victoria sometime next week.

California lemons and oranges are "way up," a dealer said. Florida grapefruit, now on order are expected to be delivered toward the end of next week, will also be much higher, perhaps double last year's price.

Hurricanes in Florida and severe frosts in Texas have resulted in serious crop losses, shooting prices to a near-record high. In addition to these natural factors, it is to be remembered now Canada's dollar is devalued, importing dealers must pay 10 per cent extra on all shipments.

Club Gets Go-Ahead Signal To Purchase Old Victoria Home

The Pacific Club will endeavor to purchase the home of Victoria Jane Wilson, 730 Burdett Avenue, it was announced by H. M. Francis, president.

The club at a special meeting decided to bid for the old home situated almost in the heart of the city's business section. The house was the home of the wealthy spinster who left in her will approximately $300,000 to charitable and social institutions. The 15-room dwelling is surrounded by lovely garden, which includes a fish pond and a stone well. The club will endeavor to purchase it as an investment and may later use it as a permanent headquarters.

Mr. Francis said alterations to the property would have to be made. Purchase price is said to be approximately $17,000.

Pressure To Keep Soldiers At Home Would Be Problem

If and when bombs start dropping on Canadian soil, one important problem which will have to be dealt with by authorities will be to overcome public opinion and pressure which might arise to keep soldiers on home soil, Maj. P. F. Ramsay told members of the Victoria Electric Club at their luncheon meeting at the Strathcona Hotel Wednesday.

Maj. Ramsay, of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, was one of 155 reserve army officers who went as observers to the Canadian Army and Air Force's joint "Exercise Eagle" held early in August in the Fort St. John and Dawson Creek area.

The speaker said enemy propaganda would be used to stir public opinion into demanding home protection, but added the best protection would stem from getting at the source of bombing raids.

Maj. Ramsay outlined the four objectives of "Exercise Eagle" as follows: To exercise airborne components of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry; to exercise army and air staffs in planning airborne attack and defence; to exercise the R.C. A.F.'s transport, fighter and bomber groups and to exercise airmobile defence personnel.

Secondary aims included informing reserve army officers and publicizing defence needs, and the peacetime work of the army and air force.

The 24-hour exercise centred upon attack and defence of Fort St. John airfield and the new Peace River suspension bridge.

Pro-Rec Skating Class At Arena

The Pro-Rec Branch, Department of Education, announce the opening of a special training class in skating to be held in the Victoria Memorial Arena Friday mornings from 7 to 8.30.

The manager of the Memorial Arena, Joe Dutkowski, is keenly interested in the class.

The instruction, which is free, will include straight, fancy and acrobatic skating and both the beginner and the more advanced skater will be looked after. Instructor in charge will be Ed Kelter, who is well known throughout skating centres in western Canada as an outstanding acrobatic and comedy skater, and who at one time was the only Canadian skater to perform the backward somersault on skates.

For further information contact the Memorial Arena or the Pro-Rec district office. Classes will get under way Oct. 14.

Old Works Of Art From Local Homes Exhibited

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON—Arts Week in Victoria, which opened Tuesday night with an exhibition of modern arts and crafts, turned its attention Wednesday, to the past and to far and fabulous places.

Through the kindness of Mrs. H. H. Matson, her beautiful old home, "Mt. Adelaide" on Dunsmuir Road, was opened to the public for a two-day display of embroidery and needlecraft, scarcely any of which is less than 100 years old. Mrs. P. A. C. Cousland acted as hostess for her mother, assisted by members of the Arts Centre committee.

Mrs. Byron L. Johnson, wife of the Premier of British Columbia, formally opened the exhibition. Mrs. Johnson was introduced by chairman of the Arts Centre, Dr. Harry Hickman. The display which is being well attended, will close tonight at 8.

Against the handsome, dignified background of the reception rooms, rich color and fine texture shows to wonderful advantage. Mellowed by the years, the exhibits are mute but eloquent testimony to the patient fingers, the unhurried lives, the profound instinct for beauty of men and women of past generations.

THREE YEARS' WORK

Of more recent pieces, there are lovely samples of work done by Miss Alice Pooley, notably a Jacobean screen which took her three years to complete. Victoria's past is recalled in work done by the late Mrs. Hickman Tye, including an intricately designed patchwork quilt in which almost every patch is put on with a different stitch, and a large framed picture of needlepoint, worked at the age of 14.

There are a number of Persian pieces loaned by Mrs. Ord Butters. These are graceful, delicate in color, incredible in painstaking and minute workmanship. A Mongolian hand-woven exhibit loaned by Mrs. Paul Myer is 300 years old. Fine examples of Paisley shawls are on view, as well as a Kashmir shawl loaned by Mrs. P. L. Allan which is more than 120 years old and an ancient Indian shawl, embroidered in glowing color on filmy black material, from Miss Pitts.

An example of what can be done by the finest of Japanese craftsmen is on loan from R. H. Pooley. This, the work of an unknown man, is a picture of a tiger drinking at a jungle pool. It is done in silk and is vivid representation of life.

A room full of ritualistic Chinese apparel has been loaned by Lady Maze, and an ancient Chinese embroidered banner, by Dr. and Mrs. Cousland. There are fine examples of American Indian beadwork and numerous pictures, silk-inlaid and worked. A 17th century piece of needlework is displayed by Lady Swettenham, the colors still brilliant after 250 years.

Straith Presents Top Awards To Victoria High Students

More than 500 students, parents and friends gathered at Victoria High School this afternoon for the annual presentation of awards to top-ranking students in the 1949 matriculation examinations.

Highlight of the ceremony was the presentation by Education Minister W. T. Straith, K.C., of the Royal Institution Scholarship to Peter L. Smith, who topped the province in the junior matriculation examinations.

Smith, son of H. L. Smith, principal of Victoria High School, attained an average of 96.2 per cent. His highest mark was 100 in mathematics and his lowest 94 in physiology.

The next presentation made by Mr. Straith was to Jacqueline Sawyer, who won the School District No. 61 scholarship of $175, for highest place in the district. Her average was 94.6 per cent.

Mrs. H. L. Smith, president of the Women's Canadian Club, presented the club's scholarship of $100 each to the top ranking boy and girl, under the above winners. They were Garth Jones, whose average was 91.9 per cent and Jennifer Munday, whose average was 90.2 per cent.

The Cecilia Green Memorial Scholarship of $100 was presented to Douglas Bebb, whose average was 89.1 per cent. Major R. H. Green made the presentation.

Awards already presented at other ceremonies included the Business and Professional Women's Scholarship, to Joan Bonfoy and I.O.D.E. Scholarships to Ruth Fort, Marlene Vance and Robin Sharpe.

Mr. Smith welcomed the guests and read out the marks of the scholarship candidates. Some, who did not win scholarships in the Victoria district, received higher marks than scholarship winners in other districts, he said.

This year's presentation of awards had added significance. It marked the first results of a new system instituted at Victoria High School four years ago by the Victoria Board of School Trustees, in conjunction with Harold L. Campbell, assistant superintendent of education for B.C., who was then municipal inspector of schools, and the principal and staff of the high school.

Students who at the close of Grade XI showed outstanding scholastic ability were called honor award students and were encouraged and given direction by teachers.

Mr. Campbell and J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools, addressed the gathering.

HONOR AWARDS

Victoria High School students who won honor awards for 1948-49 on completion of Grade IX work were:

Shirley Allan, Arthur Anderson, Leonard Anderson, Shirley Ayton, Sydney Bell, Gerald Blou, Marion Bowles, Alastair Buchan, Dorothy Chu, William Dash, Dick

Witness Of Japanese Surrender, Cosgrave Coming Here Friday

The Canadian trade and commerce department's western representative, Col. Lawrence Vincent Moore Cosgrave, the man who accepted on behalf of Canada the unconditional surrender of Japan in 1945, will visit Victoria on Friday.

Col. Cosgrave will confer with provincial government officials and Vancouver Island manufacturers interested in promoting trade between British Columbia and various parts of the world. Col. Cosgrave has an intimate knowledge of the far eastern and Australian markets.

He has been named western representative for the federal trade and commerce department with offices in Vancouver to succeed the late H. W. Brighton. Since Mr. Brighton's death in February of this year, E. A. Leslie has had charge of the office.

Until recently Col. Cosgrave has served as commercial counselor for Canada in Shanghai.

Born in Toronto, Col. Cosgrave served overseas with the Canadian Field Artillery during the First World War, being awarded the D.S.O. and Bar, and the Croix de Guerre. He commanded the 1st brigade, C.F.A., with the army of occupation, in Germany, and was demobilized in May, 1919.

Joining the Canadian trade commissioner service in 1922, he has since then served in London, Eng., Shanghai, Melbourne and Sydney. He was appointed military attaché to the office of the Canadian High Commissioner in Canberra in January, 1943, and in that capacity accepted on behalf of Canada the Japanese unconditional surrender at the impressive ceremony aboard the U.S.S. Missouri.

At least three homes in Oak Bay were the targets of what is believed by police to have been the same burglar during last week-end. According to investigating officers $70 in cash and two sweaters were stolen.

From the home of R. H. Hoard, 550 Beach Drive, the burglar got $40 in cash. From the home of a widow who asked police for "no publicity," $30 was stolen.

From the residence of Douglas J. Hunter, 3160 Uplands Road, the thief got two sweaters.

The similarity of entry at the three places indicates the same person was responsible for all the robberies. Entry was gained by jimmying windows.

Chief of Police Hugh Reston was of the opinion that this was not a "return of the cat burglar." He said this did not have the polished finish of the cat's prowling.

Police did not reveal the robberies until questioned by a Times reporter this morning following a lead from a resident.

B.C. August Gas Sales Set All-Time Record

The Coal and Petroleum Control Board today reported gasoline sales during August of this year had totaled 15,247,682 gallons—another all-time record.

The August sales were up 13 per cent over the sales for August, 1948, and 9 per cent over July, 1949.

The most significant increase—15 per cent—is in resellers over August, 1948," said the board. Sales to resellers totaled 9,867,588 gallons.

Victoria sales to resellers totalled 911,307 gallons, in August, a gain of 14.65 per cent over the previous August. In Vancouver and district resellers sales showed a gain of 14.34 per cent, while the gain in the remainder of the province was 15.23 per cent.

The board comparing August, 1949, and August, 1948, reported commercial sales at 3,512,878 gallons, a gain of 8 per cent; marine sales at 1,270,185 gallons, a gain of 9 per cent, and aviation sales at 121,822 gallons, a gain of 25 per cent.

Hope-Princeton Highway Opening Fixed For Nov. 2

Works Minister E. C. Carson announced today the 83-mile long Hope-Princeton Highway, started in 1945, would be formally opened to traffic at 2 on the afternoon of Nov. 2.

Premier Byron Johnson will cut a ribbon strung across the new highway at the Allison Pass summit, 4,400 feet up in the Cascade Mountains. The provincial works department expects 2,000 persons to witness the long-awaited ceremony.

The highway, one of the finest in the province, will be complete for its entire length except for a seven-mile section on the western approach to the Allison Pass summit. Works department officials do not expect that the weather will permit hard surfacing of this section. Motorists will find a gravelled surface on this section until surfacing weather returns next spring.

A line-up of heavy maintenance and snow-removal equipment which will be used on the new highway will be at the summit for the opening ceremonies.

Invited to witness the opening ceremonies have been the entire provincial cabinet, all ministers of public works in Canada and heads of highway departments in Washington, Idaho and Montana.

Caravans of cars carrying motorists to the opening ceremonies will be held at Hope and Princeton so that they will meet at the Allison pass summit for the opening ceremonies. Mr. Carson said that the time for the ceremonies had been chosen so that the motorists would have plenty of time to return to their homes by nightfall.

A buffet luncheon will be served at the works department establishment at Allison Pass following the cutting of the ribbon by Premier Johnson. Preparations are being made to serve 2,000.

The public is invited to witness the opening ceremonies. Those invited to the ceremony will lead the caravans from both ends to the summit.

As well as building the 83-mile section of new road over the Cascades from Hope to Princeton the works department has reconstructed the 70-mile section of highway between Penitence and Princeton. The overall cost is $12,000,000 for the 153 miles.

Plans for the highway which had been proposed more than 100 years ago were prepared by the provincial works department during the war and tenders were called for the construction work in 1945 shortly after the war ended.

Three Oak Bay Homes Robbed Of $70, Also Sweaters

At least three homes in Oak Bay were the targets of what is believed by police to have been the same burglar during last week-end. According to investigating officers $70 in cash and two sweaters were stolen.

Police did not reveal the robberies until questioned by a Times reporter this morning following a lead from a resident.

The construction companies ran into difficulties building the highway and won revisions of contracts.

The major contracts were executed by W. C. Arnett Construction Co. Ltd., who built the eastern portion, and Emil Anderson & Company, which pushed the highway eastward from Hope. The project is one of the largest road building undertakings attempted by the provincial government.

The highway is of the provincial works department's current standards with a 40-foot overall width, carrying a 24-foot surface. Bridges are mainly of steel and concrete. Except in two places the maximum grade is 5.5 per cent.

The Hope-Princeton road will permit the first direct highway link for the southern Okanagan Valley with the coast. Traffic from Penitence at the present time must go northward to Kamloops, and then along the Trans-Canada route through the Fraser Canyon.

The Hope-Princeton highway will mean a 100-mile saving for traffic from Penitence to the coast. Provincial works department officials say that motorists will be able to cover the 250 miles between Vancouver and Penitence in six to eight hours' driving time on the new highway.

The highway will be kept open in all seasons. Already truck and bus companies have secured licenses to use the highway when it is opened.

Hometown Friends Excited Over Visit Of Lancashire George

By JIM McKEACHIE

The phones at the James Bay Fish and Chip Shop should be extremely busy soon—but not for sale of the product of the shop.

Nevertheless, there could hardly be a more appropriate place for the sale of tickets for the forthcoming appearance in the city of one, George Formby.

Mr. Formby is that gentleman who panics homesick Englishmen the world over and practically takes them to the promenade at Blackpool with his Lancashire wit and his songs.

The songs, most of which can be interpreted in many ways depending on the mind of the listener, are invariably accompanied by the versatile Mr. Formby himself, on his banjo-ukelele.

STRUMMING DE LUXE

Few can compare to Mr. Formby for strumming speed on the instrument. A highlight of his gramophone records, which are either coddled or hurriedly smashed by those who come into contact with them, is the banjo-uke solo which is interjected while the famous Lancashire lad (one of his trade names), rests his tonsils for another chorus.

But around the James Bay Fish and Chip Shop, we find it is not only for seats in the arena that the place is selling tickets.

It is much better organized than that.

A group of patriots of two counties of the old sod who, apparently noting that events like the arrival of George Formby can be handled much more effectively if they are formed into a society, have tied up things for George's impending visit.

The group, known officially as the Lancashire & Yorkshire Society (League of Roses), plans to enthrone members to the point where each and every one will turn out to the steamer landing to welcome their hero. In Hawaii the idea has long been popular, only with hula girls and leis.

It should be a gesture which will be appreciated by George.

SPECIAL SECTION

And if you should happen to be at the performance that evening, you will probably notice that any laughter which is forthcoming will likely be concentrated in one section of seats, for the society has had a special section set aside for members and friends.

In other words, the Lancashire and Yorkshire Society of Victoria, is going to see that George gets lots of support and laughs for his English-type of humor.

This is good. All too often Canadians, even those of English descent, listen patiently to a music hall joke which convulses holidaymakers at Blackpool and then miss the point of the story altogether.

The army of Lancashire and Yorkshire "D.P.'s" will, however, laugh at the right time, and start things off.

It should leave George with a good impression of Victoria. He has likely heard that this city is billed as "a little bit of old England," and will be expecting laughs here which he might conceivably not get in other cities.

TIME ELEMENT

A spokesman for the Lancashire and Yorkshire Society said today that "a request has been made to the society to show Mr. Formby and his company around Victoria if time permits.

This is a thoughtful gesture and the ever-smiling George would be foolish to decline. The chap has been doing one-night stands all over the place, and a tour of the city which is supposed to closely resemble his homeland should do much to relax him and take his mind off the rapid living in America.

Besides, after being relaxed, he'll probably give Victorians a better show for their money.

U.S. Man Accused By Czech Reds Now Reported Missing

PRAGUE (UP)—A U.S. Embassy spokesman said Wednesday that Noel H. Field, accused of being an American "spy mastermind" during the Budapest trial of Laszlo Rajk, may have been seized by Communists in Czechoslovakia.

The spokesman said the State Department had ordered the Embassy to ask the Czechoslovak government about Field's whereabouts. He said the Embassy was preparing a note.

Noel Field is a brother of Hermann Field, Cleveland architect who was last seen at the Warsaw airport Aug. 22.

The Polish government has answered repeated U.S. requests for information about Hermann Field with a terse "investigation is being continued."

Noel Field, according to the Embassy, has not been heard from since May when he hurriedly left Prague for Bratislava.

Actor Cotten Tells About Experiences In Austerity Europe

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Want a first-class, prepaid vacation in Europe, staying at the best spas and hotels?

Natch, kid. And it's available to you at no cost and little obligation—provided you're a top-flight film star.

Take Joseph Cotten. In the last year or so he has made three pictures in Europe, in London, Vienna and Italy. But he isn't complaining about constantly packing up his duffle-bag, or whatever movie stars pack up.

"This is the only way I could afford to take a European trip first-class," Cotten says, with perhaps unwarranted modesty about his money status.

ITALY IDEAL

Vienna was the most inconvenient place to work, said the actor. "We had black bread and cheese for breakfast, while Valli, Orson Welles and I made 'The Third Man'." he related.

But in Vienna he had the only milk he tasted in Europe. It was flown in from Denmark.

Conditions were pleasant in Italy, where he just shot "September" locations. He and Joan Fontaine were filmed at Rome, Naples, Capri, Florence and Pompeii.

Cotten didn't even grouse about England, where he spent nine austere months. "You soon find what you put in your stomach is not too important," he remarked.

CAPSULE REVIEW

"Christopher Columbus" (Rank) is Britain's version of the founding of our continent. Too much of the film deals with the dull court machinations, leaving the actual discovery with little punch. Fredric March's fine portrayal and some good sea shots are the sole bright things in the film.

Clemency Asked For Rajk Group

BUDAPEST (AP)—Laszlo Rajk, condemned to death for treason, appeared over his own objections Wednesday before a special clemency court which will decide whether to spare his life.

With the former No. 2 Hungarian Communist leader were his wife and trial co-defendants. The hearing was marked by a bitter speech against the western powers and a boast by the prosecutor that Russia now "governs a third of the world" and possesses the atom bomb.

The appeals were heard by the National Council of People's Courts, similar to the one which upheld Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty's life sentence last July.

Rajk, former Hungarian foreign minister and minister of the interior, had rejected an appeal from his death sentence, but it was made over his objections. His five co-defendants had appealed.

The hearing was adjourned until Friday, when the findings will be given.

New U.S. Justice

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sherman Minton took the oath as a justice of the U.S. Supreme Court Wednesday in a White House ceremony.

Minton, a former Democratic senator and "New Dealer" from Indiana, was sworn in by Chief Justice Vinson. He succeeds the late Justice Wiley Rutledge.

FRENCH POLICE ASSIST

M. PICHON, the famous French official, was already in his office and received Dollimore at once. He was a small, wiry, grey-haired man with steel-blue eyes that seemed to bore into one.

"Monsieur Dollimore?"
"Inspector Dollimore, Monsieur. I have a note from the Assistant Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police of London."

"Yes. An old friend of mine," Pichon said when he had glanced at the letter. "I am at Monsieur's service."

"The Assistant Commissioner wrote to you in connection with an Englishman called Lewin who had been living in Paris. He may still be here. We are extremely anxious to get into touch with him."

"I remember. He was registered, but of late the registration has not been renewed. He has, presumably, left Paris."

"It would be of great help if I could verify that, Monsieur."

M. Pichon considered this a moment. "I don't see how that can be done," he said at length. "An Englishman, here in Paris, is at liberty to go, of course, when he will. He would just go."

"Could you give me the address at which he was living when he was registered?" Pichon nodded and touched a bell. The door opened almost as soon as the bell had been touched and he gave rapid instructions to the subordinate.

"In a few minutes, Monsieur," he said to Dollimore.

"He used the Cafe des Rosiers in the Rue Blanche as an accommodation address."

"I know. I have been there."

THIEVES' KITCHEN
"And I," said Dollimore.

"It is curious that an Englishman like Lewin should go to such a thieves' kitchen," Pichon said. "It is not even amusing."

"He was drinking heavily."

"Even so; there are many pleasant places in which to drink. It is a resort of crooks. We know it well. You got nothing out of Baileu?"

"Baileu?"
"The proprietor—a lamb."

"Nothing," said Dollimore with a smile, "excepting the statement that he had misled you."

"So?"
"He told you that Lewin had not been there for several weeks."

"That is so."

"He was wrong. He now asserts Lewin called there several times for letters. It was Baileu's wife who saw him, not Baileu."

Pichon stroked his chin. "Lewin had not been to the Cafe," he said quietly. "Madame was there whilst I was talking to Baileu. I went there personally; the Assistant Commissioner has helped me before this. I wonder why Baileu lied to you on the point? He has a reason for it—that lamb!"

"I agree, Monsieur."

There was a discreet tap at the door and a slip of paper was placed in front of M. Pichon.

"One hundred Rue Ballu—a turning out of the Rue Blanche, most of the houses in that street are comparatively respectable boarding houses, and the like," Pichon said.

"And quite near the Cafe des Rosiers, apparently," Dollimore put in.

M. Pichon nodded. "You seem to have a rather interesting case on the carpet," he said with a smile.

"If you are interested, Monsieur, and can spare the time, I should like to tell you about it."

"I am very interested," Dollimore gave him a rapid sketch of the case. The Frenchman, eyes nearly closed, huddled in his chair.

At the end he sat upright. "I have an idea, Monsieur. It may easily be wrong."

Dollimore waited. "Quite easily, it may be wrong," the Frenchman repeated. "But, usually, when an idea comes to me out of the blue there is something in it. Would you do me the honor of dining with me at a quarter past six?"

"I shall be delighted," Dollimore said.

"And by that time I shall have found whether the idea that came out of the blue should have remained in its azure home," Pichon said with a smile. "By the way, if you draw a blank in the Rue Ballu, you might glean something from Monsieur Jean Dalrobes, at the Cafe Dalrobes in the Avenue de Clichy. It is quite near the Moulin Rouge, which you probably know."

The two men shook hands and Dollimore took a taxi at the door of the Prefecture of the Rue Ballu.

As Pichon had said, it proved to be a street of respectable houses—of the type one finds in certain parts of Kensington—houses which have seen better days. No. 100 was no better or worse than the others and, from the notice on the door, it was an apartment house.

I REMEMBER HIM
The woman who replied to his ring might have been either proprietress or concierge. Stout, sixtyish, she was neatly dressed, and smiled pleasantly on the young man whom she obviously regarded as a possible lodger.

"I have come, madame, from the Prefecture of Police," he said.

She glanced at him sharply. "But Monsieur is English," she said.

"Yes. A British police official. I obtained your address from 'M. Pichon.'"

"But why, monsieur?" Come inside. It is unparadise of me to keep you standing on the step in this manner."

"Thank you."

She led him to a small room on the ground floor.

"Here we can talk," she said.

"My visit concerns a certain Monsieur Lewin who once stayed here with you—an Englishman."

"Lewin," she repeated thoughtfully. "Yes, I remember him."

"This is the one address in Paris we have of his. I am extremely anxious to find out where he is."

"I have no idea," she said. "I do not desire to injure him, but, in the end, it was necessary to ask him to leave."

"Oh?"

"Yes. The other lodgers complained—4 one becomes drunk—with discretion, monsieur—one may tolerate it, but to be drunk and noisy is not a happy combination."

"He was a drunkard?"

"He had, apparently, no other occupation. A man of independent means, I understood. Of a great English family."

"Hardly that," Dollimore said. "You've no idea where he went to from here?"

"No, monsieur."

"Or of how I could get into touch with him? Do any of his friends live here or near here?"

"No, monsieur. He paid his bill and went. And that was the end."

"Thank you very much."

Dollimore had an early lunch at the Cafe Dalrobes. He knew enough of Paris to know that the cafe would be a very different place at night, but at the time he was there it would have been difficult to imagine a more discreet and respectable establishment.

The lunch was admirable and Dollimore, who had eaten little since he left London the previous evening, did ample justice to it.

With his bill, he asked for M. Dalrobes whom he noticed receiving the customers.

"I would like to thank you, monsieur, for a most admirable lunch," he said.

"Monsieur is kind," the Frenchman said with a courtly bow.

"I came here, monsieur, on the recommendation of your friend M. Pichon."

"So?" The Frenchman's professional manner changed. "Any friend of M. Pichon is welcome at the Cafe Dalrobes. There is a matter in which I might help Monsieur, perhaps?"

"Thank you, Monsieur. I am anxious to discover what became of a certain countryman of mine called Lewin."

"Lewin," she repeated thoughtfully. "Yes, I remember him."

"This is the one address in Paris we have of his. I am extremely anxious to find out where he is."

"I have no idea," she said. "I do not desire to injure him, but, in the end, it was necessary to ask him to leave."

"No, monsieur. He paid his bill and went. And that was the end."

"Thank you very much."

Dollimore had an early lunch at the Cafe Dalrobes. He knew enough of Paris to know that the cafe would be a very different place at night, but at the time he was there it would have been difficult to imagine a more discreet and respectable establishment.

The lunch was admirable and Dollimore, who had eaten little since he left London the previous evening, did ample justice to it.

With his bill, he asked for M. Dalrobes whom he noticed receiving the customers.

"I would like to thank you, monsieur, for a most admirable lunch," he said.

"Monsieur is kind," the Frenchman said with a courtly bow.

"I came here, monsieur, on the recommendation of your friend M. Pichon."

"So?" The Frenchman's professional manner changed. "Any friend of M. Pichon is welcome at the Cafe Dalrobes. There is a matter in which I might help Monsieur, perhaps?"

"Thank you, Monsieur. I am anxious to discover what became of a certain countryman of mine called Lewin."

"Lewin," she repeated thoughtfully. "Yes, I remember him."

"This is the one address in Paris we have of his. I am extremely anxious to find out where he is."

"I have no idea," she said. "I do not desire to injure him, but, in the end, it was necessary to ask him to leave."

"Oh?"

"Yes. The other lodgers complained—4 one becomes drunk—with discretion, monsieur—one may tolerate it, but to be drunk and noisy is not a happy combination."

"He was a drunkard?"

"He had, apparently, no other occupation. A man of independent means, I understood. Of a great English family."

"Hardly that," Dollimore said. "You've no idea where he went to from here?"

"No, monsieur."

"Or of how I could get into touch with him? Do any of his friends live here or near here?"

"No, monsieur. He paid his bill and went. And that was the end."

"Thank you very much."

Selling Prospects For Canadian Fish Good, Says Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—In spite of world currency cuts which may increase competition, prospects of selling Canada's fish products both at home and in the U.S. appear good, the Department of Fisheries said Wednesday.

Pondering the effect of sterling and dollar devaluation, the department predicted stronger competition in the U.S. where 70 per cent of Canadian fish exports are absorbed.

But, although such North Atlantic fish exporters as Norway, Denmark and Iceland are expected to cut a bigger sea lane to U.S. shores, Canadian exports are expected to continue strong and should "bolster the entire industry."

However, Canada may have to do some price-cannings to face a stiffer competition breeze, whipped up by the sterling area's devaluation by 30 per cent, against Canada's cut by 10 per cent.

The market in the U.S., particularly for fresh and frozen fish, was firm and appeared to be getting even firmer, the department said. Dollar devaluation is expected to help trim price-cost problems as they arise.

C.P.R. Releases Details Of New Nanaimo-Vancouver Ferry

Naval architect's drawing of the new C.P.R. passenger-auto ferry.

Details of the new 6,000-ton passenger-auto ferry now under construction in Scotland for the Canadian Pacific's Vancouver-Nanaimo service have been released by Capt. C. J. Williams, manager of the company's, B.C. Coast Steamship Service.

Contract for the building of the new Princess vessel, believed to be the largest of its type anywhere, was awarded in June, this year, to Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Co. Ltd., Govan, Scotland, builders of the Princesses Marguerite and Patricia, which entered coast service early this year.

Keel for the new ship, which will carry 1,500 passengers in day service, and approximately 150 automobiles, was laid this summer, and delivery is expected early in 1951.

An oil-burning vessel, she will be of all steel construction, and her 9,000 horsepower will be generated by two sets of single reduction geared turbines. Steam, which will be superheated to 650 degrees Fahrenheit, will be provided by three water tube boilers, exerting a pressure of 325 pounds per square inch. With a normal speed of 18 1/2 knots, the new twin-screw ship will provide an improved, fast schedule service between the B.C. mainland and the expanding Vancouver Island hub.

CARS ON TWO DECKS

The new Princess will carry motor cars on two decks, and as on other vessels of the Princess fleet, cars will be loaded through side ports. Two passenger decks located above will provide passenger seating accommodation and a restaurant with a capacity of 150 persons will be located at the after end of the lower passenger deck. No sleeping accommodation will be provided.

In an effort to curb the "smoke nuisance," the latest type of soot eliminator and extractor will be located in the ship's large single funnel, which will be located slightly forward of amidships.

The vessel, which is 337 feet long and 62 feet wide, will have a cruiser stern of the "hard chine" type, and the latest type of ship-to-shore wireless telephone equipment will be installed.

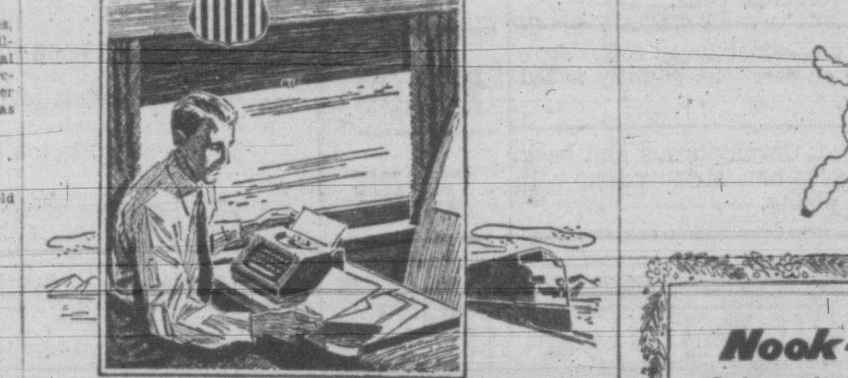

She is being built to comply with Lloyd's highest class and to conform with the requirements and regulations of the British Ministry of Transport and the International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea. The ship will be equipped with every modern safety device and navigation aid, including radar, and will Cecil Ridout, manager of King Bros. Ltd., shipping agents, said the freighter would take on 1,250,000 feet of Vancouver Island lumber here for South Africa.

U.S. Sub To Visit

U.S. Submarine Pomfret will arrive in Esquimalt Friday for a one-week courtesy visit. It is reported by Royal Canadian Navy officials here.

Pomfret, a Balao class submarine, is commanded by Cmdr. A. B. Williams Jr., U.S.N.

Coal Strike Seems Set For Long Winter

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (BUP)—The coal strike, in its 25th day, appeared set for a long, cold winter.

John L. Lewis charged that steel and coal interests "teamed up" to block settlement of the strike, and operators were reported ready to hold out through a long strike against Lewis' demands.

Lewis declared only "bona fide" government seizure of the mines could solve the deadlock.

During another futile negotiating session with northern and western operators, Lewis charged that the controlling interests of steel and coal had set up a "blockade" against the United Mine Workers.

He said that he was not in favor of government seizure himself, but that operators refusal to meet the union's terms might make it necessary.

He said the industry could absorb any increased costs resulting from the "modest program" of union demands. He said the industry reduced coal prices 40 cents a ton last March. This, he said, showed that the mine owners were making "40 cents more than they should have been making."

The union's wage, hour and welfare fund demands, he estimated would add 30 to 40 cents a ton to the cost of mining coal.

Could Do Business With Chinese Reds Says Envoy Davis

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—T. C. Davis, Canadian Ambassador to China arrived today on the American evacuation liner from Red Shanghai and said he believed it possible to do business with Communist China.

Davis was called home by the Canadian government for consultations. He came here on the first evacuation ship cleared by both the Chinese Nationalists and Communists—the American President Lines' General Gordon, a converted army transport. She carried 1,450 passengers, 800 of them from Shanghai.

Davis said the Chinese Communists appear eager for business with the West. He refused, however, to say whether he would consider recognition of the Red government advisable.

Arts Commission Has Busy Day In Manitoba Capital

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences faced a heavy schedule as it prepared to wind up its three-day hearing here today.

An imposing list of briefs from 14 widely-diversified organizations has made a night session necessary to clean up the four-man commission's Winnipeg inquiry.

The commission, under the chairmanship of Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, will move to Saskatoon to conduct a two-day hearing Oct. 17-19. It will be the second stop on the tour of western Canadian cities delving into the development of Canadian culture.

All of today's submissions but one—from the Canadian Legion interprovincial committee on education—were prepared by provincial or Winnipeg organizations. They range from the junior league to the Association of United Ukrainian Canadians.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Disappearance of Joyce Monasterki, pretty 25-year-old cashier, has definitely been solved, a coroner's jury was told today.

She disappeared on a downtown street Sept. 17 and a nude body found on a West Vancouver beach has been identified through a chart on her teeth. The body was discovered by fishermen last Saturday.

A dentist's report was described as "conclusive evidence," by Archibald D. Walsh, an undertaker. He was present at the dentist's examination, and reported the doctor as saying:

"There is no question—that is the mouth—definitely." Dr. Harold Dyer, the coroner, also told the inquest jury:

"We shall have further evidence, but I think that settles the thing fairly well—the teeth are pretty conclusive evidence."

After jurors viewed the body and listened to evidence of identification, the inquest was adjourned until Tuesday.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

Cause of death has not been determined. She was not drowned, but there were no marks of violence. The undertaker told the jury that the outer layer of skin on the girl's body had pretty well disappeared. There were a few abrasions but no cuts. Action of the sea had removed all the hair.

Premotion of "trouble" for the young cashier was portrayed in "awful dreams" of members of her family before her disappearance.

"We feared something had happened," said a letter received here today from two sisters, living in Goodeve, Sask.

"Just before we got the news everyone in the family had awful dreams and nightmares."

The sisters are Mrs. Marie Elash and Mrs. Antonia Konjuk who wrote the letter to the Vancouver Sun.

SOUGHT BY POLICE

The girl disappeared 10 days before charges of theft were laid against Jack Reeves, manager of the Stanley Park Pavilion where she worked. Police had sought to question her in the Reeves' case.

Police today said no significance is attached to the visit of a "mysterious stranger" to Miss Monasterki's suite shortly after her disappearance.

Tragedy has struck often in the Monasterki family. The father died some years ago on a prairie farm, victim of a well accident, and four years ago an uncle, John Monasterki, was shot to death on his farm near Goodeve.

The uncle's 19-year-old son was convicted of murder, and sentenced to hang, but the sentence was later commuted to life imprisonment.

Judgment Reserved In Smallwood Trial

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Judgment was reserved by the Newfoundland Supreme Court Wednesday night in the case against Premier Joseph Smallwood, accused of intimidating voters during the recent federal election campaign.

William Browne, a former judge and now Conservative member of Parliament, brought the charges, alleging Smallwood had threatened voters that the government would not spend any money in their districts unless they voted Liberal.

There was an argument Wednesday between the Premier and counsel for Browne, the Premier contending he was entitled to trial by jury. Browne's counsel contended otherwise.

Shirley And John ... Happy Then

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Shirley Temple's marriage is on the rocks, her attorney announced today.

The 21-year-old actress and John Agar have separated, Attorney George Stahlman said, and he is drawing up divorce papers. He said grounds have not been determined.

A close friend, however, said she will probably charge mental cruelty.

"There is no career trouble," the friend said.

Shirley declined comment only that Agar moved out of their home Wednesday night. Agar, 28, told reporters:

"I have nothing to say other than that I hope the thing can be handled in a dignified manner. I haven't thought it out clearly as yet, but I do not think I will contest Shirley's divorce suit."

The blonde one-time child star, who in recent years has made a comeback as an adult, married Agar, also an actor, Sept. 19, 1945. Their daughter, Linda, was born Jan. 30, 1948.

Police Prepare To Stop Duel By Actor, Playwright

MONTREAL (BUP)—Whether it was a publicity gag or the real thing, Montreal police today prepared to ward off a duel reportedly scheduled to be fought Friday.

Playwright Eloi de Grandmont and actor Jean Louis Roux denied they were scheduled to fight a duel to settle a quarrel. But their witnesses said the event was slated for Friday afternoon.

De Grandmont was reportedly insulted by Roux, one of the actors in a play by de Grandmont which was being shown in Montreal. The two men reportedly scuffled backstage during the performance, and the public in the theatre was aware—as one spectator put it—"that something was wrong."

De Grandmont, it was reported, advised Roux that he had 48 hours in which to make excuses and withdraw his insulting statements. Roux refused to do this, the reports said.

Mediators for one of the parties revealed the quarrel had started over a young French girl, visiting in Canada with relatives. De Grandmont intended to announce their betrothal but Roux was opposed to the plan and insulted Grandmont, the mediators said.

Local police said the only kind of a duel they were used to was the daily duel with criminals. One official said: "If this isn't a publicity stunt, we shall do our utmost to spoil their fun."

The two men, who had been good friends in France for a decade, would face at least three years in jail under the Criminal Code, if they proceeded with the duel, police said.

Make $2,399 Profit In Football Series Despite Heavy Costs

TORONTO (CP)—Despite heavy costs of transporting teams involved in Dominion soccer finals and semi-finals a profit of $2,399 was made on the championship series Dominion Football Association officials reported today.

Hamilton Westinghouse, Canadian champions, received nearly $500 as their share with the other teams splitting $619 among them. The remainder went to the Dominion association.

The championship match between Westinghouse and North Shore United of North Vancouver drew a $5,248 gate in Calgary last August. However, expenses totalled $4,538.

Next year's finals are to be held in Vancouver, it was announced. They were held there last year three years ago.

Biggest gates in the semi-finals were at Toronto and Winnipeg, the officials said, with matches in Saskatoon and Edmonton incurring losses of nearly $1,600.

Reject Resolution To Turn CBC Over To Private Enterprise

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—The Alberta Federation of Labor today rejected a resolution recommending that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation be turned over to private enterprise.

At the same time delegates attending the federation's 29th annual convention carried an amended resolution urging that the parent Trades and Labor Congress protest to the federal government any increase in radio license fees and ask that the present $2.50 fee be reduced.

W. G. Stanton of Edmonton, chairman of the resolutions committee, asked for non-concurrence on the resolution presented by the cereal workers of Medicine Hat concerning the CBC.

"Some control over radio broadcasting such as the CBC is desirable in the public interests," Mr. Stanton said.

The resolution on radio licenses, presented by the Lethbridge Trades and Labor Council, originally asked that the existing fees be abolished but was amended to urge no increase but a reduction.
